

The DAILY WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

WASHINGTON — Enactment of a bonus bill will be welcomed by New Deal liberals for a reason that the veterans would never guess.

They hope that the bonus will give them their long-sought opening for a sweeping revision of the tax laws.

Young Henry Morgenthau paved the way for this in his appearance before the Senate Finance Committee. He warned that if the bonus were passed, higher taxes would be necessary.

This will play right into left-wing hands. Once tax legislation becomes an order of business, they are in a position to bring out the far-reaching program they have been trying for months to persuade the President to back.

Furthermore, if the liberals once get their program on the floors of Congress, many members who secretly oppose drastic overhauling of the tax system won't dare vote against it in the open.

To do so would be political dynamite in next year's election. It is why such Senators as Pat Harrison, Joe Robinson and Josiah Bailey pooh-pooh Morgenthau's argument, airily insist that the bonus can be managed without new taxes.

The undercurrent maneuvering over this should be both important and amusing.

Congress Cupid

In the three and a half months he has been a member of Congress, Pennsylvania's Representative James L. Quinn thought he had run the gamut of strange requests from constituents.

But a recent letter showed him he was wrong. It read as follows: "Dear Congressman: I am a girl of sixteen and considered very attractive, but my parents won't let me have dates with boys. Won't you please go and see my father and tell him that this attitude is wrong? You have three daughters yourself, so you know what this situation is."

Wagner Bill

Private polls regarding the Wagner Labor Disputes Bill indicate that it has a good chance of passing if it can ever be brought to a vote.

This depends upon Old Guard Democratic leaders in the Senate, none of whom are too enthusiastic about it. The bill will be reported out of committee shortly and will soon face the test.

Meanwhile there is some interesting behind-the-scenes dickering between Madame Secretary Perkins and backers of the bill.

No Cabinet officer likes to see his Department weakened and Miss Perkins is no exception. Therefore she is opposed to the Wagner Bill unless the new Labor Relations Board which it will establish is placed under her Labor Department.

To this the Wagnerites are strenuously opposed. They claim that a Labor Board subordinate to the Labor Department would subject it to political pressure. They want the Board completely independent—similar to the Supreme Court.

So they have proposed a swap to Miss Perkins—as follows: Her Labor Department will get control of the organization set up by the new Social Security Bill. But the House Ways and Means Committee, linked at her demands, look jurisdiction out of

81 STUDENTS TO GRADUATE; HONOR MADER

Misses Briner, Caskey Have Highest Four Year Averages

SELECT M. E. CHURCH

Alumnus to Have Part in Graduation Rites

The high school graduating class, expected to be the largest in history, will number 81 if all candidates for graduation are able to keep their grades up to standard, it was said at the high school today. Never before has the list of graduates numbered more than 72 persons.

The seniors voted Monday to have the baccalaureate services at the Methodist Episcopal church Sunday, June 2, with Rev. H. A. Sayre to deliver the address.

Principal E. I. Gephart of the high school announced that Marie Briner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Briner, 214 W. Main-st., had attained the highest average of any graduate in her four years of high school and would represent the class as valedictorian in commencement exercises June 4. Miss Briner, who is taking the classical course, averaged 93.18 per cent in all studies through high school.

Virginia Caskey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Caskey, 722 N. Court-st., is salutatorian with an average of 92.8. She is also taking the classical course.

Misses Briner and Caskey, 722 N. Court-st., are salutatorian with an average of 92.8. She is also taking the classical course.

Since there is to be no principal commencement speaker the seniors are empowered to elect a class orator. Otis Mader, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Mader, N. Court-st., was voted this honor when the class met Monday afternoon.

Young Mader, incidentally, is the third highest ranking pupil in the graduating class. He is business manager of the high school annual and has an important role in the senior class play.

The fourth speaker will be a member of the alumni and has not yet been selected.

Since the anniversary of the high school will be the theme carried out in the commencement exercises Miss Briner in her valedictory will discuss the development of the American high school and Miss Caskey will talk on the first American high school. The alumni will discuss the development of Circleville high school.

List Not Disclosed
The complete list of graduates will not be announced until all are definitely "under the wire" and safely on the road to graduation.

POLLUTION CASES MAY FORCE CITY TO CUT EXPENSES

Judgments of $19,185 owed to 20 Pickaway-co property owners may force the city of Columbus to slash its annual budget in order to pay the debts. This action was discussed at the Columbus council meeting Monday evening.

The judgments were granted when the city compromised suits of a number of property owners charging pollution of the Soloto river. Some of the land owners have jokingly said they might attach the city hall under writs of execution.

Not only must the city pay the $19,185 due as a result of the suits but the city owes $10,000 due six building inspectors illegally discharged and three telephone operators also illegally fired to whom $3,800 is due.

The money cannot be obtained by a bond issue since the supreme court has ruled that such issues can be floated only by popular vote. Neither can the money come from the general fund, Mayor Henry Worley reporting that already overdrawn.

BURN MY CLOTHES

Charles Reynolds, a hobo, didn't like the way he was being treated in city jail where he spent Monday night—so he put his clothes on a gas grate and paraded through the streets in a nude.

Mayor Cady ordered him chained out of town—after Chief Will McCrady furnished him some clothing.

Boy 5 Slays Mother

Declaring he was only trying to scare his mother when he pointed a shotgun at her, five-year-old Clifford Cain, whose mother was killed when the gun went off, is pictured after being questioned by Monroe-co., Indiana, authorities. Coroner's verdict was accidental death.

J. M. WILSON DEAD AT 85

Man Who Worked at Cemetery Succumbs; Services To Be Wednesday.

Josiah M. Wilson, aged 85, an employee of the Forest Cemetery association for a number of years prior to his fatal illness, died Monday afternoon at his home on Wilson-ave. He had been ill with a complication of diseases.

Mr. Wilson was a native of Pickaway-co. being born May 2, 1850, a son of Josiah and Phoebe Bean Wilson.

He is survived by his wife, Harriett Brannon whom he married May 1, 1884; four children, Joseph E., of Chicago; Mrs. Marie Forsha and Harry B. Wilson, of Columbus, and Mrs. Florence Metzger, Circleville R. F. D.

The funeral will be Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the home with Rev. Spurgeon Metzger officiating. Burial will be in Forest cemetery by M. S. Rinehart.

HUENFELD BUYS HOLMAN'S STORE

Lancaster Man, Veteran In Drug Business, Now In Possession.

Robert Huenefeld, of Lancaster, has taken over the Temple Drug Store which has been operated by Dr. and Mrs. A. W. Holman.

Before coming to Circleville Mr. Huenefeld was connected with a drug store in Lancaster for the past two and one-half years. He graduated from the Cincinnati College of Pharmacy in 1907 and has been connected with drug stores since that time. He has had a thorough training in drug store operation and in the application of surgical appliances and will carry a complete line of drugs. He will conduct the store under his own name.

He is married and expects to move his family to Circleville within a short time.

Dr. and Mrs. Holman have taken apartments in the Dutton block, S. Court-st., and Dr. Holman will have an office at his residence, and practice medicine.

ROTARIANS ATTEND INTER-CITY MEETING

Over thirty Circleville Rotarians journeyed to Chillicothe Monday evening to attend an inter-city meeting held at the Elks Hall, honoring the governors of the twenty-second district of Rotary.

A large number of clubs in the district were represented and 250 attended the meeting which was addressed by Cameron Ralston, of Washington, Pa.

STATE SENATE PLANS BALLOT ON NEW TAXES

Senator Herner's Service Tax Measure to Raise $15,000,000

TO ADJOURN SOON

Parochial Aid Bill Vote is Expected

COLUMBUS, April 30—Whipped into action by Sen. Paul P. Yoder, Dayton Democrat, senate floor leader, senate leaders returned to the capital today to spur the legislative machine toward early adjournment.

Yoder, chairman of the senate rules committee, announced a half dozen minor bills will be disposed of when the senate reconvenes at 1:30 p. m. tomorrow, while chairmen of important senate committees summoned their groups to turn out major legislation for action Thursday.

Program Outlined
This week's program for the senate, which has been recessed since March 28, is four-fold:

1. Action on six minor bills, including changes in the fox season and regulation of speed of motor boats, scheduled for tomorrow; 2. Consideration of a new bill, to be introduced by Sen. W. H. Herner (D), Monroeville, providing for a "service tax," estimated to raise $15,000,000; 3. Disposal of the Traxler-Kiefer school foundation measure, already passed by the house; and 4. Action on the Davis parol Kiefer bill is brought to a vote.

The minor legislation, already passed by the house, will be the first consideration of the senate, so that the way may be cleared for action on more important bills. Later said.

Herne, chairman of the senate finance committee, revealed today he is drafting a bill, to be introduced Thursday, that will include hotel service, barbers, bootblacks, manicurists, laundries, hair-dressers, garages, presseries and other "services" under the provisions of the sales tax.

"The measure would raise near-

9,000 MEN PUT OUT BY STRIKE

CLEVELAND, April 30.—Throwing nearly 9,000 men out of jobs, the Fisher body plant of General Motors Corp. today announced it will close tonight for "an indefinite period" as a result, company officials said, of the eight-day-old Chevrolet motor strike at Toledo.

Announcement of the action was made by L. R. Scafe, general manager of the Fisher body plant, which is Cleveland's largest automobile works.

Scafe said workers reporting at 2:30 p. m. today would be the first notified of the shutdown, and that others will be notified as they report at various times until 11 o'clock tonight, when the shutdown will become 100 per cent effective.

"FARM, ORCHARD CROPS PERFECT"

COLUMBUS, April 30.—Agricultural authorities here today agreed that Ohio farm and orchard crops are in "excellent condition as a result of rains, general throughout the state.

H. C. Ramsdorn, head of the agricultural extension department at Ohio State university, termed the rainfall "of great value to Ohio farmers and fruit growers."

W. H. Alexander, chief of the U. S. weather service, said "rains last night and today were very beneficial all over Ohio, weather stations report."

A ten-day dry period was broken by the rainfall and additional showers were predicted during the next few days.

KIWANIANS, WIVES ENJOY TRAVEL TALK

Kiwanians and their wives and friends enjoyed a "ladies' night" meeting at Hayley's Monday evening with a large number in attendance. The program consisted of a travel talk with moving pictures, all of which proved of much interest to the assemblage.

Fear Three Children Die In New Jersey Quicksand

ELIZABETH, N. J., April 30—Three small children, missing since Friday, were the objects today of one of the most dramatic searches in the history of New Jersey.

Through the early morning hours 1,000 persons and two crack bloodhounds beat the dense swamp lands adjoining Newark airport without finding the youngsters.

More persons were expected to join the search group later today.

The missing children are Charles Arnone, 7, Frank Truggiano, 6, and his brother, Mario Truggiano, 5.

STATE MAY CLAIM GOVERNOR'S FUND

COLUMBUS, April 30—Gov. Martin L. Davey, who has received in excess of $1,000 in voluntary contributions from the public for his executive office rug fund, may be required to pay the entire sum over to the state treasurer, it developed today.

Ray Martin, assistant state treasurer, cited two sections of the Ohio general code which he said appear to make it mandatory that the governor surrender his rug fund collections to the treasury. Davey has been keeping them in an executive office safe.

One general code section cited by Martin reads in part as follows: "On or before Monday of each week every state officer shall pay to the treasurer of state all moneys, checks and drafts received for the state or for the use of such state officer during the preceding week from fines, taxes, assessments, penalties, sales, rentals or otherwise."

The second pertinent section pointed to by Martin reads: "Every state officer receiving fees or advances of money shall deposit all such receipts to the credit of the state depository trust fund, herein created, when such receipts may be subject to refund or return to the sender or when such receipts have not yet accrued to the state. Such deposits shall be made within 48 hours of their receipts in case of offices located at Columbus."

If Davey is compelled to turn over the money to the treasurer, it was pointed out, it may then be necessary for the legislature to make an appropriation before the sum can be spent for rugs.

ESTATE VALUE IS $61,486

Two-thirds of Clifton Property in Real Estate; Three Trials Set.

The estate of the late Harry E. Clifton is valued at $61,486.21, $40,770 of which is real estate, according to the inventory filed in probate court today.

Mrs. Hazel Clifton, his widow, and Richard Simkins are co-administrators of the estate. The inventory was completed by T. M. Barnes, H. W. Plum and R. L. Brehmer.

Three Trials Set
Two damage actions and one case involving parentage of a child have been set down for trial in Judge Joseph W. Adkins' court beginning next Monday, May 6.

The action of Forrest Smith, Madison-twp., against Harly Hines for $10,000 is scheduled for that time. Smith seeks damages for injuries to his son, Marvin, who was struck by Hines' automobile.

An earlier trial in which the son sought damages through his father resulted in a verdict for the defendant.

Two days later, May 8, trial of the suit for $1,480 of Sheldon Steele, Columbus, against J. H. Wright, Kingston, will start. The action is the result of an automobile wreck.

The parentage case is entitled The State of Ohio in relation to Dolie Knece against Howard Puffinberger. It is set for May 10. Juries will be seated in each of the three trials.

ONE KILLED, SIX WOUNDED IN FEUD

TYLER, Tex., April 30.—Felled by a barrage of shotgun fire which wounded five other members of his family, Clint Ferguson, 35, died today as officers ascribed the ambush to a feud that had smoldered for more than a year.

Mr. Ferguson, brother of the slain man, was in a critical condition at a hospital where physicians expressed fear that he would die from severe chest wounds.

The six members of the Ferguson family were shot down at a roadside filling station.

Deputy sheriffs arrested James Bryant, owner of a nearby filling station when he surrendered at the sheriff's office.

STATE TO RECEIVE $162,656.76 IN TAXES FROM ONE ESTATE

GREENFIELD, April 30—Ohio will receive $162,656.76 in inheritance tax from the estate of the late Edward Lee McClain, grain-lifter and manufacturer. The estate's value is $2,779,256.

She's May Queen

Miss Dorothy Fohl, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Fohl, will reign supreme in the May day festival to be held on the high school athletic field Wednesday afternoon. She was elected Queen by the school last week.

MAY FESTIVAL YEAR'S EVENT

SAYS FISCHER
Superintendent Urges All To Attend Festival Wednesday. At 3 O'clock.

"The event of the year," was the title given the May day festival today by Frank Fischer, superintendent of schools, after he had watched a preview of what can be expected Wednesday starting at 3 o'clock.

Highly enthusiastic over the event, the first conducted here in years, Mr. Fischer urged all Circleville residents who possibly can to attend the festival which will be held in the high school grounds and which will be free of charge.

Miss Dorothy Fohl will be crowned May Queen and her court will include a number of the high school's most popular girls.

Music will be a predominating feature of the festival with all classes and grades of the city to be represented. Much time has been devoted to practices by all the teachers and their pupils.

Mrs. Ray W. Davis, who is in charge of music in the schools and who does not plan to be a candidate for a position next year, is responsible for the music. Her efforts to make the festival a musical success have been untiring and she deserves much credit for the huge undertaking.

"The only thing we need to make the day a success," Mr. Fischer declared, "is good weather."

The forecast today for Wednesday was "fair with rising temperature." Everyone hopes the weather man is correct, at least this time, because the May day festival promises to be an event that will not be forgotten in a long while.

AVIATRIX SET FOR LONG TRIP

Amelia Earhart to Undertake Dangerous Flight From Mexico City.

MEXICO CITY, April 30—Amelia Earhart Putnam today gave her monoplane a final check, ready for the dangerous hop-off for New York at 5 p. m., E. D. T. today.

If the luck that carried her over the Atlantic and Pacific holds out, she will arrive in New York before noon tomorrow—the first to make the trip non-stop.

Her greatest risk will come in the take-off in the rare atmosphere of Mexico City's 7,000 feet altitude with a load of 470 gallons of gasoline.

Only one man, the late Capt. Emilio Carranza, ever succeeded in that feat. Mrs. Putnam will use a three-quarter-mile runway to lift her machine off the ground.

Her route to New York will depend on weather conditions.

AERIALIST KILLED IN FALL TO FLOOR

ST. LOUIS, April 30—Victim of a 50-foot fall when a strap broke at the conclusion of her act, Miss Arrietta Glenwald, 28-year-old circus acrobat, was dead today.

Thousands of spectators viewing the police department circus at the coliseum last night saw the woman as she plunged to a wooden floor when the strap to which she clung by her teeth parted.

Attendants were just beginning to lower Miss Glenwald when the mishap occurred. The mouthpiece was still between her teeth when circus attendants picked her up. Rushed to a hospital, she died in an hour and a half.

MISS REICHINGER RECEIVES HONOR

Miss Evelyn Reichinger, daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Eichinger, is one of nine Ohio university students awarded Phi Beta Kappa keys as an initiation at the university Monday. The keys were presented by Florence E. Allen, judge of the U. S. circuit court of appeals.

Phi Beta Kappa is a national scholastic honorary fraternity.

ITALY DOWNS PLANE

Report Germans to Increase Warships

By International News Service

Britain answered Germany's submarine-building with a new aerial expansion program today as events moved swiftly in Europe's arms race.

Developments in leading cities:

LONDON—Air ministry completed plans for 20 new aerial squadrons, totaling 240 fighting planes, as Anglo-German naval talks postponed pending new delegation by Chancellor Hitler on March 15.

ROME—Newspaper Giornale D'Italia stated Germany plans to build 100,000 tons of warships during 1935-1936.

MILAN—German plane grounded by six Italian aircraft after mystery flights over Italian frontier base.

MOSCOW—Soviet Russia warned of military alliance between Germany, Japan and Poland in May Day pronouncement vigorously attacking Fascism and Imperialism.

British to Arm

LONDON, April 30—Construction of twenty new air squadrons, instead of the eleven provided in Britain's air force expansion program for this year, will be taken up at the cabinet meeting tomorrow.

Lord Londonderry, air secretary, was believed in authoritative quarters today to be personally responsible for this suggestion.

As a result of the report that Germany's air force is twice as strong as Britain's, the cabinet also contemplates a plan for more speedy recruitment of personnel, and immediate purchase of new sites for aerodromes.

HUGE PLANE SEEKS MARK

Douglas Transport To Follow Regular Air Line Over Country.

UNION AIR TERMINAL, Los Angeles, April 30—A huge Douglas transport plane today took off from the Union air terminal piloted by W. D. Tomlinson, and headed for New York in an effort to win back the non-stop transcontinental transport record.

The National Aeronautic association timed the plane off the ground at 1:45 a. m. The big silver transport shot into the air after an exceedingly short run despite its load of 1,350 gallons of gasoline.

It was soon lost into the haze which heralded the approach of the sun over the eastern mountains.

Accompanying Tomlinson, who is an executive of the T. W. A., was Hal Sneed, co-pilot, and Pete Redpath, navigator.

It was announced the huge Douglas, a standard 14-passenger transport such as is used regularly on TWA airlines between Los Angeles, Chicago and New York, would fly the regular airline course by way of Albuquerque, N. M.; Amarillo, Texas; Kansas City, Mo.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Columbus, O.; Pittsburgh and Harrisburg, Pa., and into New York.

MEN'S CLUB TO PICK OFFICERS TONIGHT

Election of officers for the year is scheduled for this evening when the Methodist Episcopal church men's club meets. Speeches will be given by a number of the club members.

The program will consist of music and songs by Joe W. Adams, Jr., W. M. R. M. and Rev. H. A. Sayre. A quartet will provide the music.

A good attendance is expected.

CLEVELAND, April 30.—Throwing nearly 9,000 men out of jobs, the Fisher body plant of General Motors Corp. today announced it will close tonight for "an indefinite period" as a result, company officials said, of the eight-day-old Chevrolet motor strike at Toledo.

Announcement of the action was made by L. R. Scafe, general manager of the Fisher body plant, which is Cleveland's largest automobile works.

Scafe said workers reporting at 2:30 p. m. today would be the first notified of the shutdown, and that others will be notified as they report at various times until 11 o'clock tonight, when the shutdown will become 100 per cent effective.

"FARM, ORCHARD CROPS PERFECT"

COLUMBUS, April 30.—Agricultural authorities here today agreed that Ohio farm and orchard crops are in excellent condition as a result of rains, general throughout the state.

H. C. Ramsower, head of the agricultural extension department at Ohio State university, termed the rainfall "of great value to Ohio farmers and fruit growers."

W. H. Alexander, chief of the U. S. weather service, said "rains last night and today were very beneficial all over Ohio, weather stations report."

A ten-day dry period was broken by the rainfall and additional showers were predicted during the next few days.

KIWANIANS, WIVES ENJOY TRAVEL TALK

Kiwanians and their wives and friends enjoyed a "ladies' night" meeting at Hanley's Monday evening with a large number in attendance.

The program consisted of a travel talk with moving pictures, all of which proved of much interest to the assemblage.

Fear Three Children Die In New Jersey Quicksand

ELIZABETH, N. J., April 30—Three small children, missing since Friday, were the objects today of one of the most dramatic searches in the history of New Jersey.

Through the early morning hours, 1,000 persons and two crack bloodhounds beat the dense swamp lands adjoining Newark airport without finding the youngsters.

More persons were expected to join the search group later today.

The missing children are Charles Arnone, 7, Frank Truggiano, 6, and his brother, Mario Truggiano, 5.

The fear was growing that the children perished in the quicksands of the swamp and their bodies sucked from view.

The bloodhounds were brought to local police headquarters last night and were enlisted in the search immediately. They were taken to a spot where the children were last seen on Friday and soon picked up a trail.

The trail led deep into the swamp area, which covers many miles near the airport and on the outskirts of Elizabeth, and it became difficult for the searchers to move ahead.

STATE MAY CLAIM GOVERNOR'S FUND

COLUMBUS, April 30—Gov. Martin L. Davey, who has received in excess of $1,000 in voluntary contributions from the public for his executive office rug fund, may be required to pay the entire sum over to the state treasurer, it developed today.

Ray Martin, assistant state treasurer, cited two sections of the Ohio general code which he said appear to make it mandatory that the governor surrender his rug fund collections to the treasury. Davey has been keeping them in an executive office safe.

One general code section cited by Martin reads in part as follows:

"On or before Monday of each week every state officer shall pay to the treasurer of state all moneys, checks and drafts received for the state or for the use of such state officer during the preceding week from fines, taxes, assessments, penalties, sales, rentals or otherwise."

The second pertinent section pointed to by Martin reads:

"Every state officer receiving fees or advances of money shall deposit all such receipts to the credit of the state depository trust fund, herein created, when such receipts may be subject to refund or return to the sender or when such receipts have not yet accrued to the state. Such deposits shall be made within 48 hours of their receipt in case of offices located at Columbus."

If Davey is compelled to turn over the money to the treasurer, it was pointed out, it may then be necessary for the legislature to make an appropriation before the sum can be spent for rugs.

Two damage actions, and one case involving parentage of a child have been set down for trial in Judge Joseph W. Adkins' court beginning next Monday, May 6.

The action of Forrest Smith, Madison-twp., against Harley Hines for $10,000 is scheduled for that time. Smith seeks damages for injuries to his son, Marvin, who was struck by Hines' automobile.

An earlier trial in which the son sought damages through his father resulted in a verdict for the defendant.

Two days later, May 8, trial of the suit for $1,480 of Sheldon Steele, Columbus, against J. H. Wright, Kingston, will start. The action is the result of an automobile wreck.

The parentage case is entitled The State of Ohio in relation to Dollie Knece against Howard Puffinbarger. It is set for May 10.

Juries will be seated in each of the three trials.

ONE KILLED, SIX WOUNDED IN FEUD

TYLER, Tex., April 30.—Felled by a barrage of shotgun fire which wounded five other members of his family, Clint Ferguson, 35, died today as officers ascribed the ambush to a feud that had smoldered for more than a year.

Ira Ferguson, brother of the slain man, was in a critical condition at a hospital where physicians expressed fear that he would die from severe chest wounds.

The six members of the Ferguson family were shot down at a roadside filling station.

Deputy sheriffs arrested James Bryant, owner of a nearby filling station when he surrendered at the sheriff's office.

Thousands of spectators viewing the police department circus at the coliseum last night saw the woman aerialist plunge to a wooden floor when the strap to which she clung by her teeth parted.

Attendees were just beginning to lower Miss Cornwall when the mishap occurred. The mouthpiece was still between her teeth when circus attendants picked her up. Rushed to a hospital, she died in an hour and a half.

MAY FESTIVAL YEAR'S EVENT

—SAYS FISCHER

Superintendent Urges All To Attend Festival Wednesday. At 3 O'clock.

"The event of the year," was the title given the May day festival today by Frank Fischer, superintendent of schools, after he had watched a preview of what can be expected Wednesday starting at 3 o'clock.

Highly enthusiastic over the event, the first conducted here in years, Mr. Fischer urged all Circleville residents who possibly can to attend the festival which will be held in the high school grounds and which will be free of charge.

Miss Dorothy Fohl will be crowned May Queen and her court will include a number of the high school's most popular girls.

Music will be a predominating feature of the festival with all classes and grades of the city to be represented. Much time has been devoted to practices by all the teachers and their pupils.

Mrs. Ray W. Davis, who is in charge of music in the schools and who does not plan to be a candidate for a position next year, is responsible for the music. Her efforts to make the festival a musical success have been untiring and she deserves much credit for the huge undertaking.

"The only thing we need to make the day a success," Mr. Fischer declared, "is good weather."

The forecast today for Wednesday was "fair with rising temperature." Everyone hopes the weather man is correct, at least this time, because the May day festival promises to be an event that will not be forgotten in a long while.

POLICEMAN SITS ON HIS PISTOL, SHOT IN THIGH

GALION, April 30.—Patrolman Howard Staub was shot and wounded here when he sat down on his revolver!

Staub climbed into his car and dropped himself heavily in the seat. He heard an explosion.

As first he thought it was another automobile backfiring, but he knew he had been shot a moment later when a sharp pain pierced his thigh.

The revolver in his hip pocket had been jammed when he sat down and accidentally exploded. The bullet entered his right thigh.

MISS EICHINGER RECEIVES HONOR

Miss Evelyn Eichinger, daughter of the late Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Eichinger, is one of nine Ohio university seniors awarded Phi Beta Kappa keys at an initiation at the university Monday. The keys were presented by Florence E. Allen, judge of the U. S. circuit court of appeals.

Phi Beta Kappa is a national scholastic honorary fraternity.

ITALY DOWNS PLANE

Report Germans to Increase Warships

By International News Service

Britain answered Germany's submarine-building with a new aerial expansion program today as events moved swiftly in Europe's arms race.

Developments in leading cities:

LONDON—Air ministry completed plans for 20 new aerial squadrons, totalling 240 fighting planes, as Anglo-German naval talks postponed pending new delegation by Chancellor Hitler on March 15.

ROME—Newspaper Giornale D' Italia stated Germany plans to build 100,000 tons of warships during 1935-1936.

MILAN—German plane grounded by six Italian aircraft after mystery flights over Italian frontier base.

MOSCOW—Soviet Russia warned of military alliance between Germany, Japan and Poland in May Day pronouncement vigorously attacking Fascism and Imperialism.

British to Arm

LONDON, April 30—Construction of twenty new air squadrons, instead of the eleven provided in Britain's air force expansion program for this year, will be taken up at the cabinet meeting tomorrow.

Lord Londonderry, air secretary, was believed to have authorized quarters today to be personally responsible for this suggestion.

As a result of the report that Germany's air force is twice as strong as Britain's, the cabinet also contemplates a plan for more speedy recruitment of personnel, and immediate purchase of new cities for aerodromes.

HUGE PLANE SEEKS MARK

Douglas Transport To Follow Regular Air Line Over Country.

UNION AIR TERMINAL, Los Angeles, April 30—A huge Douglas transport plane today took off from the Union air terminal piloted by W. D. Tomlinson, and headed for New York in an effort to win back the non-stop transcontinental transport record.

Joe Nikrent, of the National Aeronautical association timed the plane off the ground at 4:45 a. m.

The big silver transport shot into the air after an exceedingly short run despite its load of 1,350 gallons of gasoline.

It was soon lost into the haze which heralded the approach of the sun over the eastern mountains.

Accompanying Tomlinson, who is an executive of the T. W. A., was Hal Smead, co-pilot, and Pete Redpath, navigator.

It was announced the huge Douglas, a standard 14-passenger transport such as is used regularly on TWA airlines between Los Angeles, Chicago and New York, would fly the regular airline course by way of Albuquerque, N. M.; Amarillo, Texas; Kansas City, Mo.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Columbus, O.; Pittsburgh and Harrisburg, Pa., and into New York.

THIRD DIES IN FILM COLONY MYSTERY CASE

Instructor Follows Wharton and Howard; See Connection With Gang.

HOLI YWOOD, April 30.—Death today claimed the third victim of the weird shooting mystery which started with the murder of Paul Wharton, 25-year-old dress designer Thursday.

Henry Bolte, law instructor, died early today in a hospital of wounds inflicted by the same gun which ended Wharton's life.

William Howard, chauffeur and former naval officer, police have established, shot both Wharton and Bolte before he turned his gun on himself in the hallway of Bolte's apartment.

Meanwhile police continuing their investigation of the case, declared discovery of letters of a convicted felon may disclose a much more sinister aspect to the crime than the suspected money madness of Howard, which heretofore had been blamed for the killings.

Officers said the letters established that Bolte was an acquaintance of W. G. Earl, now awaiting sentence following his conviction of conspiracy to rob a wealthy widow.

It also was recalled that during his trial Earl was revealed to have been connected with E. E. Wiley, an attorney now serving a sentence in a federal prison for trafficking in stolen and forged government bonds.

Capt. Stensland, in charge of the investigation of the case now is attempting to ascertain whether Wharton and Howard had any connection with Earl or members of his gang.

Capt. Stensland said, "that Wharton who knew many celebrities of the film colony might have taken advantage of these connections in devious ways."

Police said, however, they have in no way connected Bolte with any illegal activities.

Hermer's proposal is expected to receive considerable support from the senate side, inasmuch as proponents of the school foundation program believe the revenue needed to finance the state's share would be provided by the "service tax" proposal.

CALL 12 NEW WITNESSES IN ROBLES PROBE

Grand Jury May Investigate This Week; Abductor May Be Dead.

TUCSON, Ariz., April 30.—As many as 50 witnesses, at least 12 of whom never before have been questioned officially concerning the kidnapping of June Robles, 6-year-old cattle heiress, will be called to testify before the federal grand jury probing the only unsolved major "snatch" crime since the government agents began their war against extortionists, it was revealed today.

K. Berry Peterson, assistant United States attorney, today said "I'm going to subpoena everyone who has the slightest possible information concerning this case."

Peterson declared it was unlikely the grand jury would reach the Robles case before Wednesday at the earliest.

Possibility that the actual kidnaper of the little Robles girl may be known but dead, was seen today in a rumor based on a statement by a government official who refused to have his name used in connection with the case.

"It is very unfortunate this man is dead," the official said, refusing to name the man referred to, "as I believe he could have told us everything needed to make an ironclad case against those involved."

Oscar ("Buster") Robson, former night club operator, now free under $5,000 bail following his arrest in connection with the case continues to emphatically reiterate his claim of innocence.

LARGE AUDIENCE AT U. B. SERVICES

A splendid audience was present Monday night to hear Evangelist Dewey Whitwell at the First United Brethren Church. He discussed the subject of "The Church's Greatest Need." He said in part: "What would you say is the greatest need of the church? Some would say that their church needs a better building, more money with which to operate, or a larger membership."

"Jesus knew what the early church needed and what we would need today when he said to his disciples, 'Ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you.' There is something wrong with the church when we consider the fact that two-thirds of her members are inactive. Also many of her active members never witness for Christ. They have no power, liberty and victory in their soul. The church needs the old time power that came to the apostles in the upper room. Then we will have new churches, new ministers, and new laymen."

The subject tonight will be, "Substitutes for the Holy Ghost." A delegation led by Rev. B. C. Rife of Jackson, Ohio, is expected. The public is invited.

EASY PAYMENT PLAN OPPOSED

"It would generally pay the consumer to borrow money at interest and pay cash for the goods," than to purchase on "easy payments," according to B. A. Wallace, extension economist in marketing, Ohio State University, Columbus, who has just issued a booklet on "How Easy are Easy Payments?" Prof. Wallace reveals that in some instances the purchaser pays an interest rate of 40 per cent per annum when buying on "easy payments." In this connection, Prof. Wallace says that "probably every dealer" would rather sell for cash than on the "easy payment" plan.

In his booklet, Prof. Wallace discusses various types of loans and the financial institutions supplying them. Speaking of chattel loans and the need of the necessities borrower, Prof. Wallace says that the higher rate charged is "merely recognition of the costs of inspecting the chattels, searching the borrower's record of mortgages, making the original and 12 monthly entries per year, correspondence, and possibly collection costs."

DEATH OF CHILD NATURAL, CLAIM

CHICAGO, April 30.—Four-year-old Richard Max Perrot, object of a wide search since his disappearance April 4, met death by accidental drowning, it was stated today in a preliminary report of a post-mortem examination.

His body, found in the north branch of the Chicago river, bore no marks of violence, but the father Max Perrot, still held to the belief that his mute child was slain by a depraved kidnaper.

Police believe the child slid down the clay bank of the river. Unless new evidence is uncovered at the coroner's inquest today the search for a "tall, thin" man, said to have been with the child the day he disappeared, will be abandoned.

ly $15,000,000 annually," Herne estimated. "It would provide nearly $7,000,000 for the express purpose of paying old age pensions during the last half of 1935, and nearly $8,000,000 more for the state's general revenue fund."

May Get Support
Herne's proposal is expected to receive considerable support from the senate side, inasmuch as proponents of the school foundation program believe the revenue needed to finance the state's share would be provided by the "service tax" proposal.

What your CARPENTER Says—

"A handy man about a home, during the Clean Up, Paint Up and Fix Up campaign can do many odd jobs adequately. Then again, there are tasks which require the knowledge of a professional. For example, what about that leaky roof on your house? Old shingles, rotted? Why not have it replaced with a modern roof in the new stained shingle manner? Perhaps you have felt the need of an enclosed porch. Oh would a new back fence and rose trellises improve your grounds? We are ready to serve you."

CALL 12 NEW WITNESSES IN ROBLES PROBE

Grand Jury May Investigate This Week; Abductor May Be Dead.

TUCSON, Ariz., April 30.—As many as 50 witnesses, at least 12 of whom never before have been questioned officially concerning the kidnapping of June Robles, 6-year-old cattle heiress, will be called to testify before the federal grand jury probing the only unsolved major "snatch" crime since the government agents began their war against extortionists, it was revealed today.

K. Berry Peterson, assistant United States attorney, today said "I'm going to subpoena everyone who has the slightest possible information concerning this case."

Peterson declared it was unlikely the grand jury would reach the Robles case before Wednesday at the earliest.

Possibility that the actual kidnaper of the little Robles girl may be known but dead, was seen today in a rumor based on a statement by a government official who refused to have his name used in connection with the case.

"It is very unfortunate this man is dead," the official said, refusing to name the man referred to, "as I believe he could have told us everything needed to make an ironclad case against those involved."

Oscar ('Buster') Robson, former night club operator, now free under $5,000 bail following his arrest in connection with the case continues to emphatically reiterate his claim of innocence.

LARGE AUDIENCE AT U. B. SERVICES

A splendid audience was present Monday night to hear Evangelist Dewey Whitwell at the First United Brethren Church. He discussed the subject of "The Church's Greatest Need." He said in part: "What would you say is the greatest need of the church? Some would say that their church needs a better building, more money with which to operate, or a larger membership."

"Jesus knew what the early church needed and what we would need today when he said to his disciples, 'Ye shall receive power after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you.' There is something wrong with the church when we consider the fact that two-thirds of her members are inactive. Also many of her active members never witness for Christ. They have no power, liberty and victory in their souls. The church needs the old time power that came to the apostles in the upper room. Then we will have new churches, new ministers, and new laymen."

The subject tonight will be, "Substitutes for the Holy Ghost." A delegation led by Rev. B. C. Rife of Jackson, Ohio, is expected. The public is invited.

EASY PAYMENT PLAN OPPOSED

"It would generally pay the consumer to borrow money at interest and pay cash for the goods," than to purchase on "easy payments," according to E. A. Wallace, extension economist in marketing, Ohio State University, Columbus, who has just issued a booklet on "How Easy are Easy Payments?" Prof. Wallace reveals that in some instances if the purchaser pays an interest rate of 40 per cent per annum when buying on "easy payments." In this connection, Prof. Wallace says that "probably every dealer" would rather sell for cash than on the "easy payment" plan.

In his booklet, Prof. Wallace discusses various types of loans and the financial institutions supplying them. Speaking of chattel loans and the need of the necessities borrower, Prof. Wallace says that the higher rate charged is "merely recognition of the costs of inspecting the chattels, searching the borrower's record of mortgages, making the original and 12 monthly entries per year, correspondence, and possibly collection costs."

DEATH OF CHILD NATURAL, CLAIM

CHICAGO, April 30.—Four-year-old Richard Max Perrot, object of a wide search since his disappearance April 4, met death by accidental drowning, it was stated today in a preliminary report of a post-mortem examination.

His body, found in the north branch of the Chicago river, bore no marks of violence, but the father, Max Perrot, still held to the belief that his mute child was slain by a depraved kidnaper.

Police believe the child slid down the clay bank of the river. Unless new evidence is uncovered at the coroner's inquest today the search for a "tall, thin" man, said to have been with the child the day he disappeared, will be abandoned.

These Doll Towels Are Fun to Embroider
PATTERN 5328
Here's Sambo, the chef, ready to make your working hours brighter. He's apparently going about all his tasks with gusto. You'll find him fun to embroider—he's done in cross stitch with just a bit of running and outline stitch to finish him up. He is, of course, a companion to our Mammy towels, pattern 5250. You could have them hanging side by side on your towel rack. And what a cute gift, a set of Sambo and of the Mammy towels would make at the shower for that June bride!

In pattern 5328 you will find a transfer pattern of seven motifs (one for each day of the week) averaging 6x8 inches; material requirements; illustrations of all stitches needed; color suggestions. To obtain this pattern send 10 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred) to The Herald Household Dept., 124 W. Main-st, Circleville, Ohio.

Brundige. Take some lunch and meet on the main square at 9:30 o'clock. Everyone interested will be welcomed to join this group and enjoy this trip.

Monday Club Hears Musical Program in its Final Session

A delightful musical program as enjoyed by the Monday club at its final meeting of the year.

Mrs. Theodore L. Huston, chairman of the music division, was in charge of the program, and presented Mrs. Frank J. Bennett, who had an interesting paper on Russian Composers as an introduction to the following program of Russian music.

A Pledge from Homer by Rimsky Korsakov and Chorus of Reapers by Tchikowsky-Harris sung by the Monday Club Chorus.

Asra by Rubenstein and Song India by Rimsky Korsakov were sung by Mrs. Harry Heffner. Two numbers by Arnsky, a rhapsody and Romance, were played on two pianos by Mrs. Irene Reichert and Miss Gretchen Moeller.

A group of songs, Mother Dear and Three Cavaliers, arranged by Kurt Schindler and Song of the Shepherd Lehi by Rimsky Korsakov sung by Mrs. Melvin Yates.

Miss Mary Radcliff sang Autumn by Arnsky and Hills of Grub by Melnikoff.

Mrs. Theodore Huston and Miss Mrs. Mills Clarke gave a two piano Valse by Arnsky.

Mrs. Frank Kline sang two Russian folk songs, Cossack Love Song and The Crimson Sarafan. A two piano number, Valse Brillant by Moskowski, was played by Miss Moeller, Mrs. Reichert, Miss Clarke and Mrs. Huston.

A trio comprised of Mrs. Clark Hill, Mrs. Melvin Yates and Mrs. P. Moffitt sang Through the Silent Night by Rachmaninoff and Number Song by Grechanioff.

A business session followed with the president, Mrs. Hildeburn Jones, in charge. Annual reports of officers and various committee chairman were read and approved, thus bringing to a close an active and pleasant year of study.

BAUSUMS CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

A lovely affair of Sunday, April 28 enjoyed and to be remembered by a number of close friends and relatives was the dinner celebrating fifty years of happy wedded life of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bausum at their home in Walnut-twp.

The home was beautifully decorated with a colorful flower arrangement, tea roses predominating. A golden color scheme was cleverly carried out in the table appointments of flowers, candles and favors.

Mr. and Mrs. Bausum have one son, Homer G. Bausum, Scioto Trail florist, and two grandchildren, Wayne and Robert Bausum.

At 12 o'clock a delicious dinner was served. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Absalom Hartman and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Valentine of Amanda Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bausum, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bausum, Wayne and Robert Bausum, Ashville; Mr. and Mrs. Heath and sons, Mrs. Gertrude Murray, Mrs. Grace Lynn and daughter, Cedar Hill; Rev. and Mrs. Sam Root and son, Donald; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Contosta, Miles and Ruth Contosta, Mary and Mabel Valentine of Lancaster; Miss Elizabeth Hartman and Lawrence Benschneider of Stoutsville.

In the afternoon Rev. Root, Mr. Contosta and Robert Bausum sang a beautiful selection appropriate for the occasion and a number of relatives gave short talks, congratulating the bride and bridegroom of fifty years and complimenting them on the arrangement of such a delightful anniversary celebration.

The group decided to have reunions of all the descendants of Samuel Crites, the first to be held at Stoutsville Camp ground in the late summer. Officers were elected including H. G. Bausum, president; Rev. Root, vice president; Mabel Valentine, secretary; Emmett Brown, treasurer; Robert Bausum, historian; Mary Valentine, chairman of the program committee, and Amelia Bowman, Altha Bausum and Mary Heath, a committee for supplies.

A number of friends called during the afternoon to extend congratulations and best wishes to the happy couple. Callers included Mr. and Mrs. Ray Plum, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Colvin Scothorne, Ashville; Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Cupp, Mrs. Edward Cupp, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cupp, Mr. and Mrs. William Cupp, this city; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Allison, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fausraugh and daughters, Miss Selma Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bowman of East Ringgold and William Hall.

Mr. Schreiner is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Brust, who are natives of Chillicothe.

Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Dorothea Ross to Mr. Edgar L. Shepherd, son of Mr. M. L. Shepherd of Mt. Sterling, has been made by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ross of Columbus.

The wedding will be an event of Friday afternoon, May 10, at 2 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents with Rev. Ernest Shepherd of Enfield, N. H., brother of the bridegroom, officiating.

ARE YOU WILLING TO FOOT THE BILL?

A BILL has been introduced in Congress which provides for outright government ownership and operation of the railroads. If the proposed legislation becomes law, it will mean:

- (1) That the government will have to add 26 billion dollars to the already gigantic public debt.
- (2) A loss, in normal times, of nearly a million dollars a day in railroad taxes (part of which pays for the education each year of 1,600,000 children).
- (3) The creation of the greatest political machine in the history of the nation, with every user of railroad service and every railroad worker subject to the mercy of federal bureaucracy.
- (4) Cumbersome, inefficient operation, and the destruction of individual initiative and progress.
- (5) Huge deficits that will have to be met by public taxation.

The experience of this and all other countries in government ownership and operation of railroads prove the accuracy of these predictions. Private initiative and enterprise have developed, in America, the largest, the best equipped, the safest and most efficient, economical railway system in the world. Are you—the shipper and receiver of freight, the traveler and the investor—willing to scrap this system and foot the bill of government ownership?

The issue is now before Congress. Congress is made up of your representatives. Your opinion, vigorously expressed, largely determines Congressional action. Express your disapproval of government ownership of the railroads to your representatives in Congress—or be prepared to foot the bill.

Monday Club Hears Musical Program in its Final Session

A delightful musical program as enjoyed by the Monday club is: evening at its final meeting of the club year.

Mrs. Theodore L. Huston, chairman of the music division, was in charge of the program, and presented Mrs. Frank J. Bennett, who had an interesting paper on Russian Composers as an introduction to the following program of Russian music:

A Page from Homer by Rimsky Orskow and Chorus of Reapers by Tchakowsky-Harris sung by the Monday Club Chorus.

Asra by Rubenstein and Song India by Rimsky Korsakow were sung by Mrs. Harry Heffner.

Two numbers by Arnsky, A dream and Romance, were played on two pianos by Mrs. Ione Reichelderfer and Miss Gretchen Moeller.

A group of songs, Mother Dear and Three Cavaliers, arranged by Kurt Schindler and Song of the Shepherd Lehi by Rimsky Korsakow sung by Mrs. Melvin Yates.

Miss Mary Radcliff sang Autumn by Moskowski and Hills of Gruba by Moszkoff.

Mrs. Theodore Huston and Miss Mabel Clark gave a two part Valse by Arensky.

Mrs. Frank Kline sang two Russian folk songs, Cossack Love Song and The Crimson Sarafan.

A two piano number, Valse Brillant by Moskowski, was played by Miss Moeller, Mrs. Reichelderfer, Miss Clarke and Mrs. Huston.

A trio comprised of Mrs. Clark Hill, Mrs. Melvin Yates and Mrs. Anne P. Moffitt sang Through the Night by Rachmaninoff and a number song by Grechaninoff.

A business session followed with president, Mrs. Hildeburn Jones, in charge. Annual reports of officers and various committee chairmen were read and approved, thus bringing to a close an active and pleasant year of study.

BAUSUMS CELEBRATE GOLDEN WEDDING

A lovely affair of Sunday, April 28 enjoyed and to be remembered by a number of close friends and relatives was the dinner celebrating fifty years of happy wedded life of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bausum at their home in Walnut-twp.

The home was beautifully decorated with a colorful flower arrangement, tea roses predominating. A golden color scheme was cleverly carried out in the table appointments of flowers, candles and favors.

Mr. and Mrs. Bausum have one son, Homer G. Bausum, Scioto Trail florist, and two grandchildren, Wayne and Robert Bausum.

At 12 o'clock a delicious dinner was served. Covers were laid for Mr. and Mrs. Absolum Hartman and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Valentine of Amanda Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bausum, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bausum, Wayne and Robert Bausum, Ashville; Mr. and Mrs. Heath and sons, Mrs. Gertrude Murray, Mrs. Grace Lynn and daughter, Cedar Hill; Rev. and Mrs. Sam Root and son, Donald, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Contosta, Miles and Ruth Contosta, Mary and Mabel Valentine of Lancaster; Miss Elizabeth Hartman and Lawrence Benschneider of Stoutsville.

In the afternoon Rev. Root, Mr. Contosta and Robert Bausum sang a beautiful selection appropriate for the occasion and a number of relatives gave short talks, congratulating the bride and bridegroom of fifty years and complimenting them on the arrangement of such a delightful anniversary celebration.

The group decided to have reunions of all the descendants of Samuel Crites, the first to be held at Stoutsville Camp ground in the late summer. Officers were elected including H. G. Bausum, president; Rev. Root, vice president; Mabel Valentine, secretary; Emmett Brown, treasurer; Robert Bausum, historian; Mary Valentine, chairman of the program committee, and Amelia Bowman, Altha Bausum and Mary Heath, a committee for supplies.

A number of friends called during the afternoon to extend congratulations and best wishes to the happy couple. Callers included Mr. and Mrs. Ray Plum, Mr. and Mrs. Irvin Payne, Mr. and Mrs. Colvin Scothorne, Ashville; Mr. and Mrs. Doyle Cupp, Mrs. Edward Cupp, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cupp, Mr. and Mrs. William Cupp, this city; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Allison, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Fausnaugh and daughters, Miss Selma Armstrong, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bowman of East Ringgold and William Hall.

GUESTS AT GOLDEN WEDDING CELEBRATION

Mr. and Mrs. Ed A. Schreiner and family, E. Franklin-st. were among the large number of relatives and friends at the celebration of the fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Adam Brust, 82 E. Seventh-st, Chillicothe, Sunday.

Mr. Schreiner is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Brust, who are natives of Chillicothe.

MT. STERLING RESIDENTS SON TO MARRY MAY 10

Announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Dorothea Ross to Mr. Edgar L. Shepherd, son of Mr. M. L. Shepherd of Mt. Sterling, has been made by the bride-elect's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Ross of Columbus.

The wedding will be an event of Friday afternoon, May 10, at 2 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents with Rev. Ernest Shepherd of Enfield, N. H., brother of the bridegroom, officiating.

CORN PUFFS

Easy to Make—and Simply Delicious!

ADD 3/4 tablespoon soft butter to 3/4 cup finely chopped popped corn. Beat 1 egg white until stiff and gradually add 1/2 cup sugar, beating until smooth. Combine mixtures. Add 1/4 teaspoon salt and 1/2 teaspoon Great Seal PURE Vanilla. Drop mixture from spoon on buttered sheet, sprinkle with chopped nuts, bake in slow oven until delicately browned.

You never saw a recipe that called for IMITATION vanilla. For best results in all your baking, use only the finest PURE vanilla. Great Seal is the pure extract—thoroughly aged—rich, smooth, mellow.

Call for Great Seal—at home-owned grocers.

IT'S CLEAN-UP TIME

CIRCLEVILLE citizens in general are co-operating with the city service department in a clean-up campaign this week, under the direction of W. J. Justice, chief of the department. Before the end of the week the accumulated rubbish of the winter months will have been removed from all sections of the city, it is hoped. Property owners and tenants have responded generously to the appeal to make Circleville a clean city, and rakes, brooms and shovels have been put into practical use in giving the premises a thorough cleaning, leaving the accumulation of rubbish in the alleys for removal by the service department.

Every year in every land all over the world, when spring comes man surrenders, gracefully and happily, to an irresistible impulse to work out of doors and tidy up his surroundings. There's something inspiring about it, and man is happy in his work of aiding nature in the beautification of his home environment.

All is, or soon will be, in readiness for the planters, the carpenters and other tradesmen and mechanics to make the needed repairs and alterations, and this spring seems destined to see more of that than has been the case for several years.

It's a good time now to plan for the property improvements you have been thinking about for a long time—a new veranda, an addition to the house, new bathroom or lighting fixtures, perhaps a new garage, a coat of paint on the house, or any other improvement that your property needs to protect it from the ravages of time, or for your own comfort or enjoyment.

MAMMOTH

MEASURE it any way you will and the $4,000,000,000 work-relief program staggers the imagination. Three new government units must be organized and more than sixty existing federal agencies called upon to administer it. Administration of the project is a government within itself, a great new empire.

The cost comes to about $30 a head for every man, woman and child in the United States. With this sum, if the project can be carried out, the country is to be remade in a great many ways—physically, economically and socially. Families, groups of people, whole communities are to be transplanted. Cities are to be decentralized and rural communities not only to be re-enforced or created, but a new rural life is to be fashioned.

The Utopian side of the picture is pleasant to dwell upon. In our thoughtless easy-going way we have let many ugly things grow. We have descended like vandals upon the treasures houses of our natural resources. We have crowded ourselves into unnatural ways of living. We have neglected to cultivate some of our best assets. Great areas are swirtled with the conveniences of good living and other great areas denied them. Now we contemplate huge readjustments, which call for administrative ability of the highest order.

No one knows how the experiment will work out, but the spur of necessity drives us. Even the cost cannot be estimated because much of the money is to be dealt out in loans or spent on projects believed to be self-liquidating and much is expected to come back. Loans previously made have been returned far in excess of anticipation. How much may eventually be charged off fairly as insurance of the nation's morale cannot be calculated.

Neither can the success of the experiment be guaranteed. Some of the administration's projects which looked good when they were projected have been disappointing. Some of the proposed projects, such as plans for stopping the devastating of the plains by drought and winds, are viewed with skepticism. The factor of economic improvement by natural forces is another incalculable quantity which, if it works as well as every one must hope, would make much of the work-relief program unnecessary.

The most fearsome part of the program is the vast bureaucratic army that will have to be mobilized. That must be watched like a hawk to protect us against its permanence and misuse for political ends.

It is our firm resolve that the next time the band starts playing "Over There" we won't even look in that direction.

A naturalist says that the mouth of a crocodile may easily be held shut with one hand, an interesting bit of information for anyone who cares to play around with a crocodile.

Astronomers report that clouds are hiding Mars from view. And behind the clouds, judging by rumblings and reverberations, the old boy is casting shells oiling his old musket and polishing his sword.

A new American gas, twenty per cent more flammable than the mustard type used in the war, is announced. It's gratifying to learn that we're not falling behind our European brethren in the great onward march of civilization.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Fire, started presumably by a cigarette swept off the floor at closing time, broke out two hours later and caused damage amounting to $2,000 at the Mykranitz drug store.

Two sets of twins were born in Circleville—boys to Mr. and Mrs. William Lowery, Clinton st., and a boy and girl to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Coffland, Logan st.

A check for $3,000 was received from Miss Elizabeth Ruggles, of Pasadena, Calif., to be used to furnish and equip an X-ray department at the new Berger hospital.

15 YEARS AGO

The interest of Mrs. Hoster in the Hoster Packing Co. was purchased by a new organization. The officers of the new company were: President, J. W. McKinney; vice president, Sam Crider; secretary, treasurer, S. M. Crider; manager retail market, Charles Smith.

Colonel George Florence, of Circleville, succeeded Brigadier General Benson W. Hough in command of the reorganized Fourth regiment of the Ohio national guard.

George A. Race, of Pomeroy, was checked in as manager of the local Western Union telegraph office, succeeding J. E. Thomas who was granted an extended leave of absence.

25 YEARS AGO

Rev. A. J. Hill resigned the pastorate of the Lutheran church at Ashville to accept the pastorate of the English Lutheran church at Madison Wis.

The trustees of the United Brethren parsonage board purchased the George Lay residence property on E. Main-st for $2,000.

H. M. Crites purchased 120 acres of land adjoining the city limits, northeast of Main-st, from Mrs. Simon Fohl and Mrs. Bernard Kathé at $10 an acre.

GYPSY GIRL

CHAPTER 9
STEWART had been listening to Willowby tell Consuelo of the gypsy folk as he had seen them. And Consuelo had been listening for the past trying to recapture it.
Stewart was not at all pleased. He was determined to get Consuelo off to the dinner party which he had arranged.
"Come, now, you're being morbid," Stewart interrupted. "Consuelo had forgotten he was in the room. I hate to spoil this jolly talk, but we'll be very late if you don't start to take off your makeup and get dressed. I'm sure Mr. Willowby will excuse you now."
"Why, yes, yes, of course," Willowby hastened to say.
"Oh, now, don't go! What is a party? We can go any time."
"Just as you like, my dear, but supper was to be served at 12:30 and it's almost that now," Stewart's voice was so stern.
"For an instant her eyes narrowed. 'Listen, my darling,' anger was well concealed under a coaxing voice—'you go and tell them that I am detained and will be there later—just a bit later. You will like a darling one, won't you, and I promise that I will not be too late.'"
"Oh, come now, that isn't fair!" She hesitated. Her eyes had narrowed further.
"Oh, yes, my darling. You are so good at making excuses, make them for me tonight." It was dismissed. "And they asked you to stay to eat!" This to Willowby. "Ah, my papa must have thought you a fine gentleman to do that!"
Stewart picked up his hat.
"I'll see you later," he said crossly.
"Yes, my darling. Tell me, Mr. Willowby, how long were you around the camp?"
Stewart slammed the door behind him.
Willowby smiled.
"I live there—that is, part of the time. You see, I have a farm in Kentucky just outside of Louisville where I breed horses. I spend part of my winter there. Your father's camp this year was only a short distance away. I saw quite a good deal of him and the others."
"Tell me all—laughter rumbled in her throat. "Oh, Lord, but I am happy! My people, my own! It is not a dream that once I was a gypsy who danced down dusty roads as free as the birds above! I wonder if I shall ever do that again." The laughter died in her throat. "Tell me more about them. I am so hungry!"
Consuelo forgot that she had promised to meet Stewart later. She forgot the hands on the clock. She and Willowby had supper together in a quiet little restaurant where there were no dining orchestras and no listening eagerly, intently, and asked a thousand questions which he could not answer. It had been a month since he had returned to New York. Then they had not spoken of breakfasting. Gatsby had not sent any message except this. "Tell my papa and one to meet this old gypsy and be happy."
"The day before I left, the beautiful, March, came to my farm. He was wearing new clothes, a green silk shirt, striped sash around his waist and a smart knotted around his head. A gypsy girl was with him. 'See,' he said, 'this is the one I am going to marry. I have already paid my gold for her.' Willowby had kept this till now.
"He is taking a wife?"
"Yes, that is what he said."
"He is taking a wife?" She played with her fingers upon the tablecloth. Absently she ran the palms of her hands and stared into them. After a while she looked at the man.
"I used to be able to read my palm or else I read my life and made it follow. I do not know—but now I can no longer tell what will happen. I have forgotten the way of looking into the future and seeing clearly. I am confused. I have tried not to be a gypsy. I have dressed like a gorgon. I have done all of these things that a gypsy would not do and now when my heart is crying out to return to my father's people I cannot! This comes of tampering!"
"I am quite sure your father would welcome you back." Inwardly he was not so sure.
"Now you are strong, but I would like to believe you. And you think this other, this one with his new bride, would welcome me back?" she asked scornfully.
"Well, now, I don't know about that. I think you hurt him dreadfully by going away."
Silence.
"This dummy, too, you have hurt!"
Silence.
"Your father—"
Then—
"If my life might, pay I would gladly make payment." The words were uttered from the depths of her heart.
"Tell me about the Dummy," she said a bit later.
"He finished a picture while I was there. It is the prize of his work so far and in my opinion, a masterpiece. He let me take it only on the condition you would see it. He gave me a note to give to you when you saw the picture and commanded that I tell you no more. I am going to hang the picture next week. There will be a very select audience invited. If you care to come then you are welcome, but I would like you to see this picture first—alone. It will mean much to you."
She promised.
Over and over she asked him to repeat until at last there was nothing more to be said. He escorted her home and lingered on the doorstep. Her voice was unsteady when she thanked him and she begged him to come to see her again.
"Ah, now, how can you say that? I have everything. A thousand things more than a gypsy ever had—"
"I said loneliness."
"Loneliness—I have you now for a friend and I have known them, so I will not be lonely again."
"Goodnight, little gypsy."
"Goodnight, my good friend."
The days that followed were strange, unreal days for the Gypsy Consuelo. She forgot she had become a lady. She quarreled with Stewart. She was through being a girl. Willowby was a temper for it could not be used. All the pent-up emotions of weeks were released and Stewart stayed at the club and did not go near her. She broke appointments and no one could talk with her. She came to the theater like a whirlwind and danced like a mad woman and heaven help the one who crossed her will. Engagements made weeks before were forgotten.
She phoned Willowby time and time again, only to be informed that he had been called out of town. She received a short note from him from Detroit offering apologies and promising to call her when he returned. She tossed the note into the fire and called Doug. Together they disappeared in the mornings and returned at night. Doug's ears were frost-bitten and he began to have rosy cheeks and acquired the annoying habit of opening windows when others were freezing.
Called to Stewart for an accounting, he explained that he and the gypsy had gone into the country and had found green trees and ground where the "ice cubes" had vanished and had ridden horses like "injins."

Heard & Seen

BY KAY JAY

If St. Patrick had known about asphyxiation by means of natural gas, he wouldn't have had so much trouble driving the snakes out of Ireland. Digging a trench to locate a leak in a gas main over near Lancaster the other day, a workman dumped a shovel of soft material into the bank and discovered that he had unearthed 10 blacksnakes. He took one look and disappeared, after yelling at his fellow-workmen, "I'm leaving!"
Another workman, wanting to know what it was all about, made an investigation and found that the snakes were all dead. They had been asphyxiated by gas leaking from the main that was undergoing repairs.
Early Ohio history tells us that over on Rattlesnake creek, which empties into Paint in Highland-co, the rattlesnakes were so thick they were found in mass formation ready to battle against the early settlers that invaded that territory. Taking that knowledge into consideration in so far as I am personally concerned the rattlesnakes would still be in peaceful possession of that particular section of the country.

The number of "clients" on Ohio relief rolls during the month of March was 1,218,298, a decrease of 18,115 from the previous month. The cost of relief during the month was $9,515,785, just a small matter of more than $317,000 a day. You may write your own comment.

It's apple blossom time, not only in Normandy, but right here in our own section of the great state of Ohio. Many Pickaway-co residents drove to the hills of Ohio and other neighboring counties Sunday, visited some of the large commercial orchards and saw some beautiful sights. The orchards west of Chillicothe welcomed thousands of visitors who were on their annual pilgrimage to see the pink and white blossoms in all their glory. At "Avalon," the country home of L. B. Yapple, the 150 acres of apple trees were in full bloom, and were a beautiful sight.

And we'll remember to go again at cider-making time and when the apples are ripe.

Fruit men tell us that there will be an abundance of fruit, in spite of the heavy frosts, with the possible exception of early peaches.

A whippoorwill, a rare bird in this section of the country, was captured at Washington C. H. and turned loose after being properly identified. This specimen of the bird family frequents the eastern coast and throughout the southland, but a few of the more adventurous of the species find their way to the middle west. Mocking birds are also invading new territory. For several years past a number of them have been seen and heard north of the Ohio river, particularly around Georgetown.

Poems That Live

THE CAVALIER'S SONG

A steed, a steed of matchless speed.

A sword of matchless keen,

All else to noble hearts is dross.

All else on earth is mean.

The neighing of the war-horse proud,

The rolling of the drums

The clangor of the trumpet loud,

Be sounds from heaven that come;

And oh, the thundering press of knights,

When as their war-cry swell,

May tole from heaven, an angel bright,

And rouse a fiend from hell.

Then mount! then mount, brave gallants all,

And don your helms again;

Death's couriers, Fame and Honor, call.

Us to the field again.

No shrewish fears shall fill our eye

When the sword-hits in our hand—

Heart-whole we'll part, and no whit sigh

For the fairest of the land!

Let piping swain, and craven knight

Thus weep and pining cry;

Our business is like men to fight,

And hero-like to die!

—William Motherwell

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

The apron worn by Anna Sten in the Easter Midnight Mass scene in Samuel Goldwyn's "We Live Again," is one she embroidered herself as a little girl. It is a particularly fine example of the Russian peasant embroidery which is enjoying a renewed popularity today.
"We live again" is the screen adaptation of Tolstoy's immortal novel "Resurrection" starring Fredric March and Anna Sten and showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Cliftona Theatre.

AT THE GRAND

One of the choicest directorial assignments of the year went to Irving Cummings not long ago. Jesse L. Lasky engaged Cummings to direct "The White Parade," a story of student-nurses on a spectacular scale, which is showing at the Grand Theatre.
Cummings recently completed the direction of "Grand Canary," a Lasky-Fox Film production starring Warner Baxter.

AT THE CIRCLE

Fake movie schools. Backening the reputation of Hollywood's more legitimate producing companies, have often proved a thorn in the side of the entire motion picture industry.
Their unsavory methods have brought them into numerous conflicts with Hollywood's law enforcement authorities, and have netted them hundreds of thousands of dollars in ill-gotten gains.
And such proves to be the case with the family which falls into the promoters' net in "The Nut Farm," the amusing Monogram feature comedy which exposes the methods of the movie racketeers. The picture comes to the Circle Theatre for a run of two days starting tonight.

Editorial Of The Day

CONSERVANCY HOPE

(Scioto Gazette)

Now comes word that rejection of the Scioto-Sandusky conservancy project, mentioned the other day is a technicality written into the records to clear the decks for 1935 action.

This is welcome news to all forward-looking people in this district who refuse to be defeated on this matter—the people who are buoyant enough to brace themselves for the future disappointments that quite naturally will attach to such a gigantic program before it is completed.

Looking Back In Pickaway County

FIVE YEARS AGO

Fire, started presumably by a cigaret swept off the floor at closing time, broke out two hours later and caused damage amounting to $2,000 at the Mykranitz drug store.

Two sets of twins were born in Circleville—boys to Mr. and Mrs. William Lowery, Clinton st., and a boy and girl to Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Coffland, Logan st.

A check for $3,000 was received from Miss Elizabeth Ruggles, of Pasadena, Calif., to be used to furnish and equip an X-ray department at the new Berger hospital.

15 YEARS AGO

The interest of Mrs. Hosler in the Hosler Packing Co. was purchased by a new organization. The officers of the new company were: President, J. W. McKinney; vice president, Senet Cryder; secretary, treasurer, S. M. Cryder; manager retail market, Charles Smith.

Colonel George Florence, of Circleville, succeeded Brigadier General Benson W. Hough in command of the reorganized Fourth regiment of the Ohio national guard.

George A. Race, of Pomeroy, was checked in as manager of the local Western Union telegraph office, succeeding J. E. Thomas, who was granted an extended leave of absence.

25 YEARS AGO

Rev. A. J. Hill resigned the pastorate of the Lutheran church at Ashville to accept the pastorate of the English Lutheran church at Madison, Wis.

The trustees of the United Brethren parsonage board purchased the George Ley residence property on E. Main-st for $2,000.

H. M. Crites purchased 120 acres of land adjoining the city limits, northeast of Main-st, from Mrs. Simon Fohl and Mrs. Bernard Kathe at $120 an acre.

GYPSY GIRL

THE STORY OF AN IMPASSIONED ROMANCE
McDONALD FEADER

CHAPTER 19
STEWART had been listening to Willowby tell Consuelo of the gypsy folk as he had seen them. And Consuelo had been sighing for the past—trying to recapture it.

Stewart was not at all pleased. He was determined to get Consuelo off to the dinner party which he had arranged.

"Come, now, you're being morbid," Stewart interrupted. Consuelo had forgotten he was in the room. "I hate to spoil this jolly talk, but we'll be very late if you don't start to take off your makeup and get dressed. I'm sure Mr. Willowby will excuse you now."

"Why, yes, of course," Willowby hastened to say. "Oh, now, don't go! What is a party? We can go any time."

"Just as you like, my dear, but supper was to be served at 12:30 and it's almost that now," Stewart's voice was petulant.

"For an instant her eyes narrowed. 'Listen, my darling—' anger was well concealed under a coaxing voice—'you go and tell them that I am detained and will be there later—just a bit later. You will, like a darling one, won't you, and I promise that I will not be too late.'"

"Oh, come now, that isn't fair!" She hesitated. Her eyes had narrowed further.

"Oh, yes, my darling. You are so good at making excuses, make them for me tonight." It was dismissal. "And they asked you to stay to eat!" This to Willowby. "Ah, my papa must have thought you a fine gentleman to do that."

Stewart picked up his hat. "I'll see you later," he said crossly. "Yes, my darling. Tell me, Mr. Willowby, how long were you around the camp?"

Willowby smiled. "I live there—that is, part of the time. You see, I have a farm in Kentucky just outside of Louisville where I breed horses. I spend part of my winters there. Your father's camp this year was only a short distance away. I saw quite a good deal of him and the others."

"Tell me all—'Oh, Lord, but I am happy! My people, my own! It is not a dream that once I was a gypsy who danced down dusty roads as free as the birds above! I wonder if I shall ever do that again.' The laughter died in her throat. 'Tell me more about them. I am so hungry!'"

Consuelo forgot that she had promised to meet Stewart later. She forgot the hands on the clock. She and Willowby had supper together in a quiet little restaurant where there were no blaring orchestras. She listened eagerly, intently, and asked a thousand questions which he could not answer. It had been a month since he had returned to New York. Then they had not spoken of breaking camp. Girtza had not sent any message except this, "Tell my little girl that I will forget this old gypsy and be happy."

"The day before I left, the big fellow, Marcu, came to my farm. He was wearing new clothes, a green silk shirt, striped sash around his waist and a scarf knotted around his head. A gypsy girl was with him. 'See,' he said, 'this is the one I am going to marry. I have already paid my gold for her.' Willowby had kept this till now."

"He is taking a wife?" "Yes, that is what he said." "He is taking a wife?" She played with her fingers upon the tablecloth. Absently she turned up the palms of her hands and stared into them. After a while she looked at the man.

"I used to be able to read my palm or else I read my life and made the lines follow. I do not know—but now I can no longer tell what will happen. I have forgotten the gypsy art of looking into the future and seeing clearly. I am confused. I have tried not to be a gypsy. I have dressed like a gorgio. I have done all of these things that a gypsy would not do and now when my heart is crying out to return to my father's wagon I cannot! This comes of tampering."

"I am quite sure your father would welcome you back." Inwardly he was not so sure.

"Now you are wrong, but I would like to believe you. And you think this other, this one with his new bride, would welcome me back?" She asked scornfully.

"Well now, I don't know about that. I think you hurt him dreadfully by going away."

"This Dummy, too, you have hurt." Silence.

"Your father—"

"If my life might pay I would gladly make payment." The words were uttered from the depths of her being.

"Tell me about the Dummy," she said a bit later.

"He finished a picture while I was there. It is the prize of his work so far and in my opinion, a masterpiece. He let me take it only on the condition you would see it. He gave me a note to give to you when you saw the picture and commanded that I tell you no more. I am going to hang the picture next week. There will be a very select audience invited. If you care to come then you are welcome, but I would like you to see this picture first—alone. It will mean much to you."

She promised.

Over and over she asked him to repeat until at last there was nothing more to be said. He escorted her home and lingered on the doorstep. Her voice was unsteady when she thanked him and she begged him to come to see her again.

"I wish you were not so lonesome, little gypsy."

"Ah, now, how can you say that? I have everything. A thousand things more than a gypsy ever had—"

"I said lonesome."

"Lonesome—I have you now for a friend and you have known them, so I will not be lonesome again."

"Goodnight, little gypsy."

"Goodnight, my good friend."

The days that followed were strange, unreal days for the Gypsy Consuelo. She forgot she had become a lady. She quarreled with Stewart. She was through being nice. What was a temper for if it could not be used? All the past emotions of weeks were released and Stewart stayed at the club and did not go near her. She broke appointments and no one could talk with her. She came to the theater like a whirlwind and danced like a mad woman and heaven help the one who crossed her will. Engagements made weeks before were forgotten.

She phoned Willowby time and time again, only to be informed that he had been called out of town. She received a short note from him from Detroit offering apologies and promising to call her when he returned. She tossed the note into the fire and called Doug. Together they disappeared in the mornings and returned at night. Doug's ears were frost-bitten and he began to have rosy cheeks and acquired the annoying habit of opening windows when others were freezing.

Called to Stewart for an accounting, he explained that he and the gypsy had gone into the country and had found green trees and ground where the "ice cubes" had melted and had ridden horses like "jingles" (TO BE CONTINUED)

Heard & Seen

BY KAY JAY

If St. Patrick had known about asphyxiation by means of natural gas, he wouldn't have had so much trouble driving the snakes out of Ireland. Digging a trench to locate a leak in a gas main over near Lancaster the other day, a workman dumped a shovel of soft material onto the bank and discovered that he had unearthed 10 blacksnakes. He took one look and disappeared, after yelling at his fellow-workmen, "I'm leaving."

Another workman, wanting to know what it was all about, made an investigation and found that the snakes were all dead. They had been asphyxiated by gas leaking from the main that was undergoing repairs.

Early Ohio history tells us that over on Rattlesnake creek, which empties into Paint in Highland-co, the rattlesnakes were so thick they were found in mass formation ready to battle against the early settlers that invaded that territory. Taking that knowledge into consideration in so far as I am personally concerned the rattlesnakes would still be in peaceful possession of that particular section of the country.

The number of "clients" on Ohio relief rolls during the month of March was 1,218,298, a decrease of 18,145 from the previous month. The cost of relief during the month was $9,515,785, just a small matter of more than $317,000 a day. You may write your own comment.

It's apple blossom time, not only in Normandy, but right here in our own section of the great state of Ohio. Many Pickaway-co residents drove to the hills of Ross and other neighboring counties Sunday, visited some of the large commercial orchards and saw some beautiful sights. The orchards west of Chillicothe welcomed thousands of visitors who were on their annual pilgrimage to see the pink and white blossoms in all their glory. At "Avalon," the country home of L. B. Yapple, the 150 acres of apple trees were in full bloom, and were a beautiful sight.

And we'll remember to go again at cider-making time and when the apples are ripe.

Fruit men tell us that there will be an abundance of fruit, in spite of the heavy frosts with the possible exception of early peaches.

A whippoorwill, a rare bird in this section of the country, was captured at Washington C. H. and turned loose after being properly identified. This specimen of the bird family frequents the eastern coast and throughout the south-land, but a few of the more adventurous of the specie find their way to the middle west. Mocking birds are also invading new territory. For several years past a number of them have been seen and heard north of the Ohio river, particularly around Georgetown.

THE CAVALIER'S SONG

A steed, a steed of matchless speed,
A sword of metal keen,
All else to noble hearts is dross,
All else on earth is mean.
The neighing of the war-horse proud,
The rolling of the drum,
The clangor of the trumpet loud,
Be sounds from heaven that come;
And oh! the thundering press of knights,
When as their war-cries swell,
May tole from heaven an angel bright,
And rouse a fiend from hell.
Then mount! then mount, brave gallants all,
And don your helms again;
Deaths couriers, Fame and Honor, call!
Us to the field again.
No shrewish fears shall fill our eye
When the sword-hilt's in our hand—
Heart-whole we'll part, and no whit sigh
For the fairest of the land!
Let piping swain, and craven wight,
Thus weep and pining cry;
Our business is like men to fight,
And hero-like to die!
—William Motherwell

CONTRACT BRIDGE

By E. V. SHEPARD, Famous Bridge Teacher

SAFETY FIRST

KNOWING South's playing ability, his bidding on this hand is beyond my comprehension. Why he should fail to rebid his hearts, containing only two probable losing tricks, is amazing. Instead of doing this, South's bid and rebid of no trumps, with two doubleton suits stopped once each, involved tremendous hazards, as he volunteered in his account of the hand. Safety first should be the motto with as powerful a hand and partner's two voluntary responses.

♠ A 10 8 4 2
♦ Q
♣ K 10 7 5 2
♠ K J 7
♥ K Q 2
♦ 9 6 2
♣ J 8 4 3
♠ Q 6 3
♥ A J 10 9 6 3
♦ A 7
♣ A 6

Bidding went: South, 1-Heart; North, 1-Spade; South, 2-No Trumps, to force (South should have forced with 3-Hearts); North, 3-Clubs; South, 3-No Trumps (South could have bid 3-Hearts, having failed to rebid his suit before), ending the bidding.

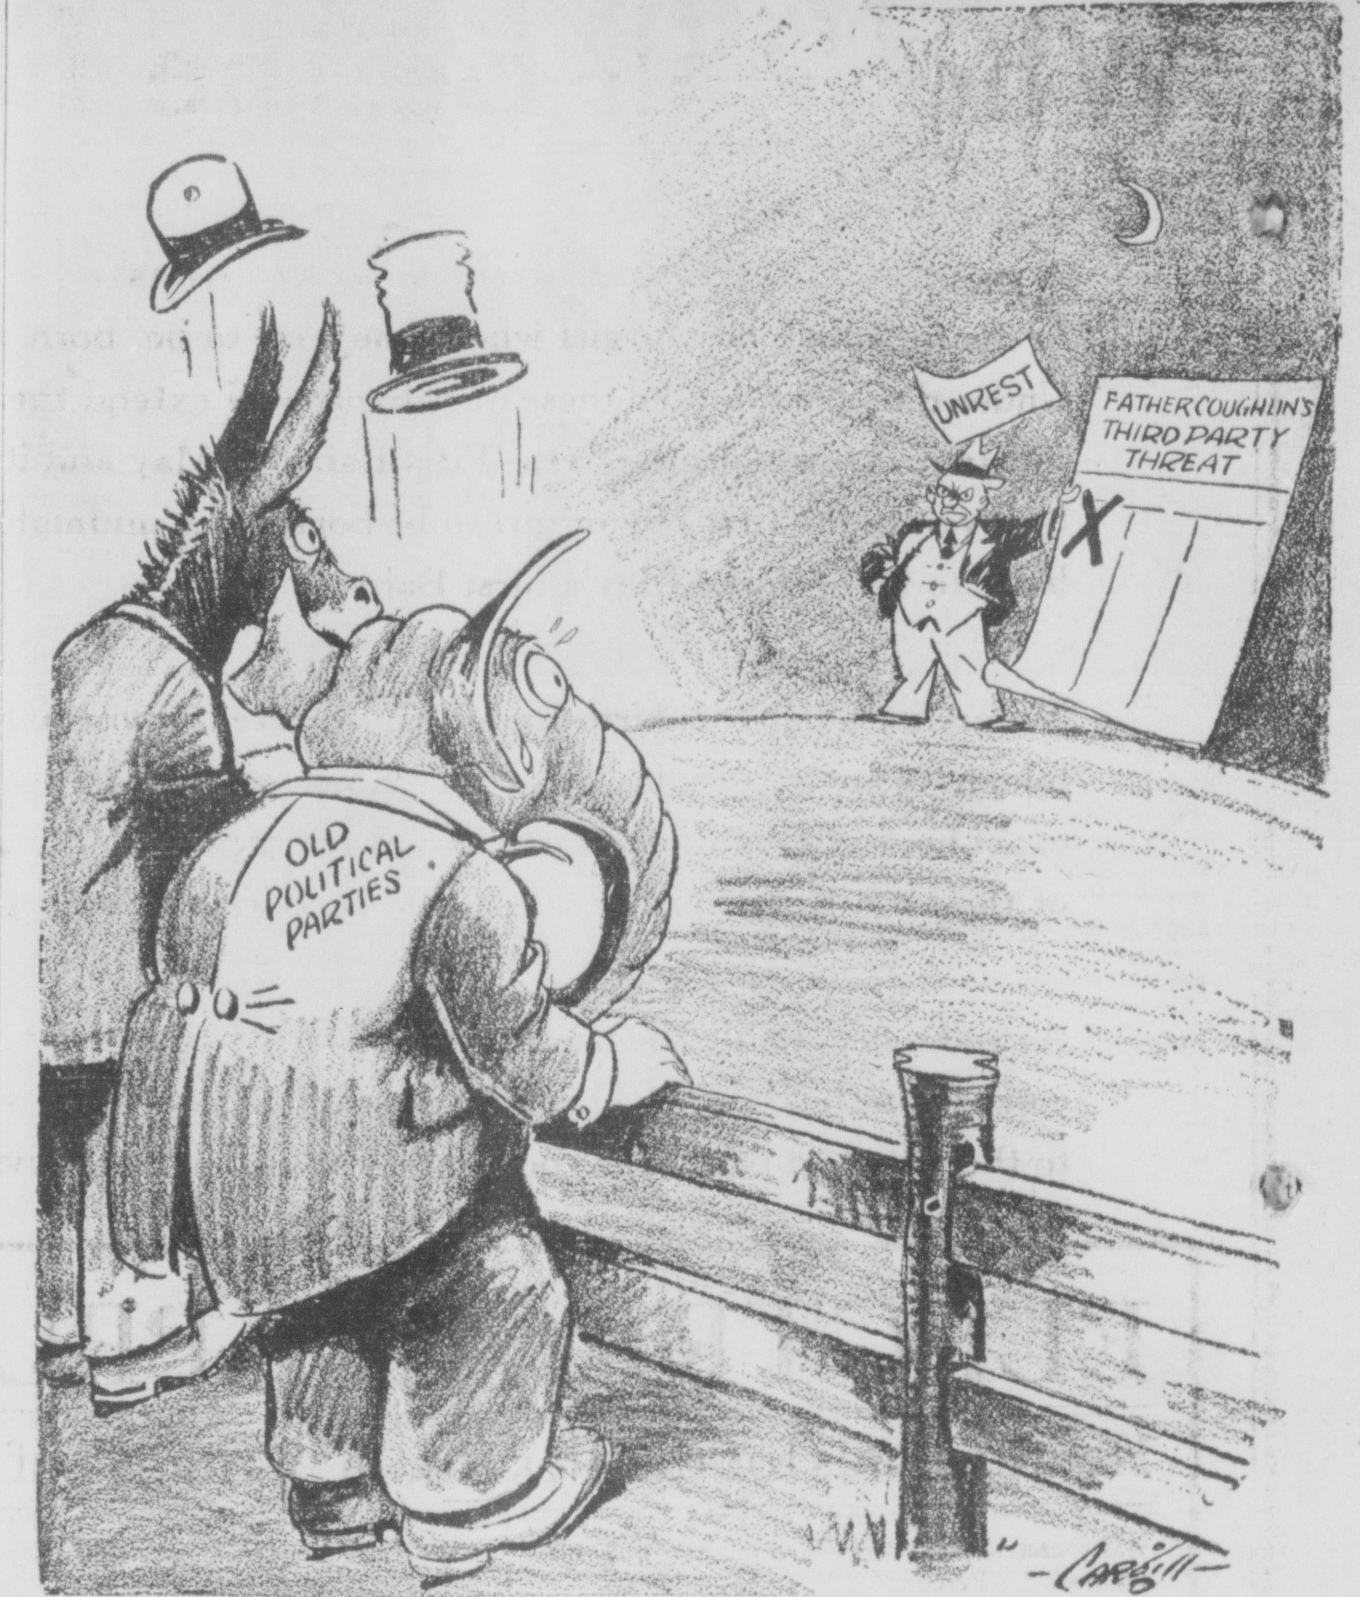

The opening lead was the 3 of clubs, from West's only 4-card suit. The 3 forced declarer's Ace. The sole hope of game appeared to lie in establishment of the heart suit, but South played West for a rather easy mark, and won by doing so. He, South, led a low heart from his own hand. Of course West should have won the trick and led his top diamond, as his best hope of defeating the contract. Such a play probably would have defeated the contract 4 tricks. West, however, fell for South's strategy and passed the trick, expecting his partner could win the trick, and the 7 held the trick. The 8 was led. When East followed suit it was evident that West held the doubleton K-Q. The declarer's Ace picked up the Q, and a single trick was given opponents. The game was assured. 1 spade, 5 hearts, 1 diamond and 2 clubs.

As a matter of fact, South played the only way to give opponents a certain opportunity of defeating the contract. The normal distribution of 5 opposing hearts is 3-2, with one high honor in one hand and the other in the other hand. The correct method of playing the hand is to twice lead hearts from dummy, and twice finessing, unless the second lead uncovers a high honor lying East. Had East held the 2 hearts, including a high honor, and West the 3 hearts, including the other high honor, the only possible way to go game would have been to win the opening club lead with dummy's K and lead a heart from dummy. Then only one trick could have been lost and game would have been assured. The way the hand was played offered opponents certain chances to badly beat the contract. Any alert player sitting West would have ruined South.

Unless South was willing to play the hand for game at hearts he should have let North play the hand at 4-Spades, which would have gone game, and probably have made 5-odd, providing North played as well as South.

THEATRES

AT THE CLIFTONA

The apron worn by Anna Sten in the Easter Midnight Mass scene in Samuel Goldwyn's "We Live Again," is one she embroidered herself as a little girl. It is a particularly fine example of the Russian peasant embroidery which is enjoying a renewed popularity today. "We live again" is the screen adaptation of Tolstoy's immortal novel "Resurrection," starring Fredric March and Anna Sten and showing Wednesday and Thursday at the Cliftona Theatre.

AT THE GRAND

One of the choicest directorial assignments of the year went to Irving Cummings not long ago. Jesse L. Lasky engaged Cummings to direct "The White Parade," a story of student-nurses on a spectacular scale, which is showing at the Grand Theatre. Cummings recently completed the direction of "Grand Canary," a Lasky-Fox Film production starring Warner Baxter.

AT THE CIRCLE

Fake movie schools, blackening the reputation of Hollywood's more legitimate producing companies, have often proved a thorn in the side of the entire motion picture industry. Their unsavory methods have brought them into numerous conflicts with Hollywood's law enforcement authorities, and have netted them hundreds of thousands of dollars in ill-gotten gains. And such proves to be the case with the family which falls into the promoters net in "The Nut Farm," the amusing Monogram feature comedy which exposes the methods of the movie racketeers. The picture comes to the Circle Theatre for a run of two days starting tonight.

CONSERVANCY HOPE

(Scioto Gazette)

Now comes word that rejection of the Scioto-Sandusky conservancy project, mentioned the other day is a technicality written into the records to clear the decks for 1935 action.

This is welcome news to all forward-looking people in this district who refuse to be defeated on this matter—the people who are buoyant enough to brace themselves for the future disappointments that quite naturally will attach to such a gigantic program before it is completed.

The cause is not lost by any means. Professor Sherman's new survey, with its constructive suggestions, has the call at Washington; and there is many a reason for us to believe that our dreams of lakes and dams in this vicinity will materialize.

President Roosevelt is speeding the four billion dollar work-relief fund into recovery projects. We believe members of his reviewing board will have the vision to see that the conservancy program, in which Ross-co is so vitally interested, "deserves the breaks."

Advertised Reducing Foods Expensive and Unbalanced

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

MAE WEST'S curves have had little influence, if my correspondence is any standard, on the general urge to have a slender figure. The ladies are just as averse to a mature, buxom, full rounded figure as before.

Miss West and her saga of contes drollesques came over the mountain. Nor is anyone any more anxious to work for weight reduction than they were before. They all crave an easy way. "How can I lose twenty pounds in two weeks?" "Send me a list of reducing foods?" "What for reduction?" "How can I lose ten pounds off my hips and no place else?"

Most of these are either wish-fulfillment hopes or are based on a basic misunderstanding of the fundamental processes involved. Not that reduction in weight is not possible, but there is no royal road to it. Nor is the result even of honest weight reduction going to resemble those visions of the plump, dimpy, matronly lady turning into a sylph-like and ethereal vision of young slenderness. It isn't in the cards. One's weight depends very largely on the constitutional build of one's body. The Hollywood stars are picked because they have a constitutional build which makes them naturally slender. Then they are mostly absurdly young, and youth is the time for slenderness. If she gets overweight it isn't hard to get the Hollywood star back to normal.

She does it by sensible dieting and exercise. The idea that there is a "reducing" food is one of the main fallacies of the yearner after slenderness. The nearest we can come to calling anything reducing is a food that is "filling" and at the same time low in food value. It can be substituted for two out of the three meals of the day with good results. And the best of these are simple to procure—grapefruit, watermelon and bananas.

So don't be misled into buying reducing foods under a fancy name, and at a high price. There are such foods offered. They are sold in packages for from $1.50 to $2. The manufacturers state that if you will eat a heaping teaspoon of the food instead of breakfast, and another heaping teaspoon instead of lunch, you will soon have an "enticing" figure.

What They Contain

Well, that's possibly true. The food may consist of soy bean flour and a little salt and coco, or some bran flavored to taste, or powdered oatmeal. Its retail cost, however, would be about 5 cents, and the reducer pays $2 for the package and the advertising thereon.

The amount of food in a heaping spoonful of a mixture as described above is about 60 calories. Since most of us eat 400 calories at least at breakfast and luncheon, it is not strange that the use of the product as ordered might reduce. But it is an unbalanced diet, and so is expensive to health as well as pocketbook.

Why not substitute a grapefruit or a dish of milk and banana for breakfast and lunch? The milk and banana diet is simple and inexpensive and balanced—two large, ripe bananas with one glass of whole milk, for breakfast and lunch. At the evening meal a clear soup, a slice of lean meat, tablespoon of a green vegetable, a slice of bread and butter, uncooked fruit, and a cup of black coffee.

PECLAES AND FEEDS TO OPEN SCHEDULE

ANS READY TO BLAST LID

Use Same Ball as Last Year; Five Rosters Filed With Secretary.

Squirrel Jones' Specials and the Peclaes Feeds will pry the lid off the recreation ball season next Monday evening. These teams, Nos. 1 and 2 when league managers met Monday evening to set up plans for the league. Other games scheduled for the week are:

Tuesday, Circleville Oils vs. Peckaway Dairy.

Wednesday, Cities Service Oils vs. Purina Chows.

Thursday, Jones Specials vs. Circleville Oils.

All managers attended the meeting except Dorthy Courtwright and George Crum who are running the Nickerson's team.

Play Split Season

It was decided to play a split season with the winners in each league playing for the championship. In the first round each team will play the other three times. All games start at 6:30 and managers are to choose umpires available to both sides prior to the start of the game.

The player limit has been established at 12 men and a ruling was adopted that no player owned by any team can play with someone else in less than a week after release. For instance, should the Purina Chows release John Brown on Tuesday he could not join another team until the next Tuesday.

The same playing rules will be in effect as last year with the time to follow baseball rules as early as possible.

The managers voted unanimously to use the same style of ball used last year.

The Circleville Oil roster, which will be quite different than that which won the championship last year, is the only one not turned in by the managers.

Settle Dispute.

All disputes over players will be settled at a final meeting Friday evening. Three teams claim Merle Davis while two claim Earl Hickey and Everett Whaley. The rosters as established so far include:

Purina Chows

Raymond Smith, Irvin Trimmer, Earl Snyder, Tommy Tomlinson, Ed Brungs, Tubby Eccard, Ed Watson, Matt Hickey, Bill Curry, Jay Anderson, Clark Stevens and Jug Fowler.

Cities Service Oils

Loring Davis, Merle Davis, Earl Hickey, Timmy Kline, Dutch Yeller, Richard Henn, Judy Gordon, Bill Hegele, Leonard Busch, Pinky Wilson, Jack Eldridge and Richard Smalley.

Jones Specials

Henry B. Jones, W. Jones, Grant D. Johnson, A. Jones, L. Hill, Dink Hariston, Norman Coleman, Charles Hill, Ike Davis, P. Thomas, John Lewis and Maynard Johnson. The roster must be out to 12 before Friday evening.

Eschman Feeds

Dewey, Canter, Whaley, Denney, J. Davis, J. Valentine, Barr, Dunel, Goldsberry and L. Rihl.

Pickaway Dairy

Joe Gitt, Ed Callahan, Ralph Fausnaugh, Cuz Dumm, Ralph Loby, Merle Davis, Clarence Radloff, Byron Eby, John Jenkins, Stetus Fausnaugh, Lawrence Wing and Franklin Blagg.

A fence, expected to be a strong one, was to be built around the playing field today under the direction of Secretary George B. Bones' Hammel, who was in charge of last night's meeting.

Cubs and Pirates Mix in Team Fight; Frick to Act

CHICAGO, April 30. The chesty Cubs and the Pugnacious Pirates nervously awaited word today from Referee Ford Frick which may decide the final winner of the fisty warfare which enlivened yesterday's ball game at Wrigley field, won by the Cubs, 12 to 11.

Telegrams from Frick, president of the National League, may bring the news that all participants in "The battle of the fifth inning" have to shell out some hard-earned cash to pay for their turn. Frick might also decide to hand a brief suspension to Bill Jurgens, Roy Joiner, Charlie Guma, Guy Bush and possibly Harry Lavagetto.

With the Pirates leading, 5 to 2, in the fifth and a man on second, Lavagetto, Pirates' second baseman, slammed a double. He hit into second base only to come up swinging and contending that Jurgens stepped on his foot.

Jurgens started swinging, too, and by the time Umpire George Magerkurth separated them they were 60 ball players swarming around.

Suddenly a wild man charged through the crowd, snatching frantically. It was Guy Bush, Pirates pitcher who was unceremoniously traded off by the Cubs in the deal of winter. Bush landed a punch on the back of Pitcher Roy Joiner's neck. Joiner started swinging. Teammates finally set on both. Then Manager Grimm of the Cubs broke loose and started after Bush, but Grimm was finally subdued without casualty.

Jurgens, Joiner, Lavagetto and Bush were banished to the showers.

Ashtville Team Good

The Ashtville baseball club showed up mighty well Sunday afternoon and set a nice-sized crowd home in high spirits. Several kids including Wade, the catcher, and Kunheim and George, infielders, starred. Morton Cooper, injured Columbus Red Bird player, was on hand for the opener and pitched the first ball with Ben Ratner, league president, at bat and Nick Francisco, former Minneapolis and Ohio State league player, behind the plate.

Next Sunday the Ashtvillers go to Derby, May 12 they go to Gahanna and May 19 the Columbus Police are at Ashtville.

Find New Stars

Although losing Amaden Oliver, Negro star, through an injury, Coach George Rider, of Miami, has uncovered two brilliant performers in Jim Cole, a veteran, and Wical, a sophomore. Cole won the Buckeye half-mile a year ago, but against Butler he took three firsts, a second and ran anchor on the winning mile relay team for a total of 19 1/2 points. Wical ran the half-mile instead of Cole and broke the Miami record with a time of 1:58.8.

Bobcats Strong, Too

Ohio university, which generally is conceded as Miami's most dangerous rival in the Buckeye meet at Athens on May 24 and 25, will tackle the Redskins in a dual meet at Oxford Friday. The winner will be the favorite for the conference championship which is decided only in the big meet, not in the dual competitions.

Gant Is Stellar

Ohio Wesleyan, possibly another title contender, will meet Cincinnati in a tight track meet Saturday at Cincinnati. The Bearcats have an individual star in London Gant, Negro giant of football fame, but the Bishops' better-balanced team is given the edge.

PLANS READY TO BLAST LID

Vote to Use Same Ball as Last Year; Five Rosters Filed With Secretary.

Squirrel Jones' Specials and the Eshelman Feeds will pry the lid off the recreation ball season next Monday evening. These teams drew Nos. 1 and 2 when league managers met Monday evening to draw up plans for the league.

Other games scheduled for the week are:

Tuesday, Circleville Oils vs. Pickaway Dairy.

Wednesday, Cities Service Oils vs. Purina Chows.

Thursday, Jones Specials vs. Circleville Oils.

All managers attended the meeting except Dory Courtwright and George Crum who are running Glenn Nickerson's team.

Play Split Season

It was decided to play a split season with the winners in each half playing for the championship. In the first round each team will play the other three times. All games start at 6:30 and managers are to choose umpires agreeable to both sides prior to the start of the game.

The player limit has been established at 12 men and a ruling was adopted that no player owned by any team can play with someone else in less than a week after release. For instance, should the Purina Chows release John Brown on Tuesday he could not join another team until the next Tuesday.

The same playing rules will be in effect as last year with the same to follow baseball rules as early as possible.

The managers voted unanimously to use the same style of ball used last year.

The Circleville Oil roster, which will be quite different than that which won the championship last year, is the only one not turned in by the managers.

Settle Dispute

All disputes over players will be settled at a final meeting Friday evening. Three teams claim Merle Davis while two claim each Mart Hickey and Everett Whaley. The rosters as established so far include:

Purina Chows

Raymond Smith, Irvin Trimmer, Earl Snyder, Tommy Tomlinson, Cle Brungs, Tubby Eppard, Ed Watson, Mart Hickey, Bill Curry, Andy Anderson, Clark Stevens and Bug Fowler.

Cities Service Oils

Loring Davis, Merle Davis, Earl Adcliff, Timmy Kline, Dutch Teller, Richard Henn, Judy Gordon, Bill Hegele, Leonard Busch, Pinky Wilson, Jack Eldridge and Richard Smalley.

Jones Specials

Henry B. Jones, W. Jones, Grant, D. Johnson, A. Jones, L. Hill, Dink Hariston, Norman Coleman, Charles Hill, Ike Davis, P. Thomas, John Lewis and Maynard Johnson. The roster must be out to 12 before Friday evening.

Eshelman Feeds

Dewey, Canter, Whaley, Denney, J. Davis, J. Valentine, Barr, Dunel, Goldsberry and L. Rihl.

Pickaway Dairy

Joe Glitt, Ed Callahan, Ralph Fausnaugh, Cuz Dumm, Ralph Roby, Merle Davis, Clarence Radloff, Byron Eby, John Jenkins, Letus Fausnaugh, Lawrence Wing and Franklin Blagg.

A fence, expected to be a strong one, was to be built around the playing field today under the direction of Secretary George B. Jones' Hammel, who was in charge of last night's meeting.

Cubs and Pirates Mix in Team Fight; Frick to Act

CHICAGO, April 30.—The chesty Cubs and the Pugnacious Pirates nervously awaited word today from Referee Ford Frick which may decide the final winner of the fistic warfare which enlivened yesterday's ball game at Wrigley field, won by the Cubs, 12 to 11.

About This And That

BY THE SECOND GUESSER

Tigers in Chillicothe

Hopeful of making a good showing especially in the track events, the Tiger harriers were in Chillicothe this afternoon engaging in a dual meet—Chillicothe is conceded a big edge in the field events but Coach Pete Herberholz' hopefuls expect to carry away a few points anyway. The meet will be a good practice for the CBL meet to be held next week.

Ashville Team Good

The Ashville baseball club showed up mighty well Sunday afternoon and sent a nice-sized crowd home in high spirits—Several kids including Wade, the catcher, and Kunheim and George, infielders, starred—Morton Cooper, injured Columbus Red Bird player, was on hand for the opener and pitched the first ball with Bee Ratner, league president, at bat and Nick Francisco, former Minneapolis and Ohio State league player, behind the plate. Next Sunday the Ashvillers go to Derby, May 12 they go to Gahanna and May 19 the Columbus Police are at Ashville.

Finds New Stars

Although losing Amaden Oliver, Negro star, through an injury, Coach George Rider, of Miami, has uncovered two brilliant performers in Jim Cole, a veteran, and Wical, a sophomore. Cole won the Buckeye half-mile a year ago, but against Butler he took three firsts, a second and ran anchor on the winning mile relay team for a total of 19 1/2 points. Wical ran the half-mile instead of Cole and broke the Miami record with a time of 1:58.8.

Bobcats Strong, Too

Ohio university, which generally is conceded as Miami's most dangerous rival in the Buckeye meet at Athens on May 24 and 25, will tackle the Redskins in a dual meet at Oxford Friday. The winner will be the favorite for the conference championship which is decided only in the big meet, not in the dual competitions.

Gant Is Stellar

Ohio Wesleyan, possibly another title contender, will meet Cincinnati in a tight track meet Saturday at Cincinnati. The Bearcats have an individual star in London Gant, Negro giant of football fame, but the Bishops' better-balanced team is given the edge.

NEW HOLLAND TEAM

WINS; SCORE 8 TO 6

New Holland's Helfrich baseball nine defeated the Columbus Senators on the New Holland field Sunday, 8 to 6. Hitting of Dudley Briggs who clubbed two doubles and a single featured the ball game. One of his doubles came with the paths loaded.

Saunders and Hicks twirled for the winners.

CINCINNATI GETS BILLY SULLIVAN

CINCINNATI, April 30.—With new blood and their batting lineup shifted, the Cincinnati Reds were to engage the St. Louis Cardinals again today after dropping the opener of the current three-game series yesterday when Paul Dean pitched his third victory of the season to lead the Cards to a 7 to 2 win.

With the loss, Cincinnati dropped back to a fifth place tie with the Pittsburgh Pirates. With the exception of the opening day of the season, when they dropped the bid-lifter, their position in the standings was the lowest this season.

While Dean was holding the Reds to six scattered hits, Cincinnati officials announced the purchase of Billy Sullivan, Jr., 25-year-old infielder for St. Paul and a son of the former White Sox catcher. The Reds were reported to have paid $10,000 in cash and two players for 1936 delivery.

MANAGER HURT

BOSTON, April 30.—Struck on the head by one of Huck Betts' pitches in the fifth inning of the Phillies-Braves baseball game yesterday, Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Phils was in St. Elizabeth's hospital today, awaiting X-rays to determine the extent of his injury.

Comic strip featuring characters like Joe, Officer G, and others, with dialogue bubbles and illustrations.

JOE'S CAR PARKED IN FRONT OF THE HOUSE WHERE THAT NEW GIRL IS— WE ALMOST BROKE AN AXLE GETTING OVER HERE!

YOU'RE TH' TOP!

I LOVE IT HERE— HOPE THEY NEVER FIND ME!

YOU'D NEVER KNOW HE'S ENGAGED TO ME!

HELLO, MR. CLUNKER? I'M HEARD THE RADIO YOURS OFFERING A BOZ INFORMATION ABOUT THE SWELL— HERE'S A TIP...

SO YOU'RE THE NEW POLICE REPORTER, EH? KEEP YOUR EYE ON THAT DUMB COP NUMBER 6% AND YOU'LL BE ABLE TO RUN A JOKE COLUMN TOO

OFFICER G% SEEMS TO BE THE LAUGHING STOCK OF THE FORCE— THERE HE IS NOW

A STICK-UP— WHY DOESN'T THAT DUMB COP DO SOMETHING!

HEY!— DON'T YOU SEE WHAT I SEE?

SURE

BUT I DON'T BELIEVE HE EVER CAUGHT A FISH THAT BIG

THEN YOU BELIEVE I WAS INNOCENT, COOL?

I SURE DO, BUSTER, AND THE SOLUTION IS RIGHT HERE IN BRAXTON.

BUT I CAN'T STAY... I'LL HAVE TO TAKE THE FIRST BUS BACK TO TEXAS... I HAVEN'T ANY MONEY.

NO, YOU DON'T, BUSTER, YOU'RE STAYING AT BRAXTON AS ASSISTANT COACH!

THEN COACH COOL MUST HAVE SENT THIS TELEGRAM TO DAD, CHIP...

HE DID NOT... I FOUND OUT THE PERSON WHO SENT THAT. IT WAS TED POWERS!!!!

AW, QUIT YOUR SQUAWKIN', YOU'VE GOT TO STAY THERE 'TIL YOU'RE DRY!

WHAT ITH THAT HUNK OF MUD FOR?

THAT'S TO COOK THE POTATOES IN!

YOU'RE NOT PACKIN' 'EM IN MUD? AFTER WE WASHED 'EM?

SURE! THEN, WE JUST THROW 'EM INTO THE FIRE LIKE THIS!

MUD AND ALL?

O' COURSE! THEN THE MUD BAKES HARD AND PEELS OFF WHEN THEY'RE DONE!

WELL, IF THAT ITHN'T THE THILLIEST THING I EVER HEARD OF!

MY KING, I INTRUDE UPON YOU AT THIS TIME ONLY BECAUSE IT IS NECESSARY! I HAVE BAD NEWS—VERY BAD NEWS— FROM OUR AGENTS IN BELOGIA!

BAD NEWS? WELL, SPEAK UP, NICKOLI, OUT WITH IT!

YOU MUST KNOW THE WORST! YOUR FAILURE TO COMPLETE YOUR OFFICIAL TOUR OF THE UNITED STATES HAS CAUSED ILL FEELING TOWARD YOUR MAJESTY IN BELOGIA! WE MUST ACT QUICKLY TO FORESTALL A REVOLUTION!

ORDER OUT MY HORSE MARINES— THEY SHALL HANDLE THIS MATTER!

OH, NO! OH, PLEASE, YOUR HIGHNESS! SUCH A MOVE WOULD BE DISASTROUS! THIS IS BIGGER THAN THAT! YOUR SUBJECTS FEEL THAT YOUR MAJESTY HAS FAILED TO FULFILL THE MISSION WHICH BROUGHT US TO AMERICA!

I CAME HERE ON NO MISSION! I CAME TO HAVE FUN AND TAKE A VACATION!

OSIENSIBLY, YES! BUT YOU FORGET THAT THE UNDERLYING MOTIVE OF OUR VISIT WAS TO ENDEAR YOU TO THE HEARTS OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE AND BETTER OUR CHANCES OF OBTAINING A FATHER LARGE FOREIGN LOAN FROM THIS GOVERNMENT! YOU MUST CONTINUE YOUR TOUR AT ONCE— OR ALL IS LOST!

SO! THAT'S THE WAY IT IS! I WILL THINK THIS OVER— YOU SHALL HAVE MY ANSWER TOMORROW!

GIVE ME THAT GUN!

I'VE GOT IT!

POOR RAIL! I COULDN'T GRAB QUICKLY ENOUGH!

HARRIMAN IS OPTIMISTIC

FOUR POINTS ARE ADVISED

National Chamber of Commerce Hears Address On Economic Set-up.

WASHINGTON, April 30.—A speech bubbling over with optimism and prophecy that the economic crisis is passing was delivered by President Henry I. Harriman today in opening the general session of the United States Chamber of Commerce's annual meeting.

Harriman said at the outset that "no longer is the request of the president the law of the land," but he refrained from taking the administration over the coals too sharply.

He criticized some of the present and proposed recovery measures but praised others, particularly the housing program, and urged the government to review all of the AAA's pressing taxes, mainly that on cotton, "and considered whether a general manufacturers' sales tax would not be a fairer way of raising the money."

Revival of Industry
Harriman insisted that measures of business and economic reform await the return of "a real revival of industry." He did not believe in reform first and recovery later.

Under the heading of "essential to recovery," he said:

"Forty-two million people are at work, while eight million are out of work, and the problem that faces the country is such a restoration of business confidence that the index number of business activity may rise to par, and the unemployed be set to work. This, in my judgment, can be speedily accomplished by:

"FIRST—An assurance that congress will adjourn soon and that thereafter major reform measures will await a real revival of industry;

"SECOND—An international stabilization of currencies at the earliest possible date, so that for-

Monarch to Return?

King George II

Following a meeting of Greek royalists in Paris, it was rumored that the political party had drafted an invitation to former King George II of Greece to return to his throne. Interviewed, the former monarch denied that he knew anything concerning the meeting and that he had not been approached on the subject of returning to Greece. The Greek government also denied the rumor.

eight trade may move with less hazard:

"THIRD—A strong assurance that further devaluation of the dollar will not be used as a measure to restore prices, and;

"FOURTH—Assurance of a definite and drastic reduction of government expenditures after the present emergency appropriations have been spent."

her hands and put it under an independent agency.

Senate backers of the Wagner Bill now plan to give the Social Security administration back to the lady. They hope this will appease her for their insistence upon taking the Labor Board away.

Leader

The Louisiana Kingfish was explaining to colleagues on the Democratic side of the Senate what an important party figure he is. "I do not want three Democrats to become engaged in an argument, because I do not want the harmony of the party disrupted. I am a leader of the Democratic party, one of its titular leaders."

"Did the Senator say 'Kingfish' leader?" inquired Texas' "Long Tom" Connolly.

Farley Enters Louisiana

Jim Farley caused the arrest of 67 persons in Louisiana.

This is not a phase of the Farley-Harry Long row, but part of the Post Office campaign against mail fraud.

Investigators are trying to break up a ring which makes a racket of ordering furniture on the easy payment plan—then resells it. Part of the operation involves use of the mails, thus putting postal authorities in a legal position to prosecute.

DRINKS POISON

COLUMBUS, April 30.—Dependency caused by a recent death in the family and by financial difficulties was blamed today for the suicide of Mrs. Mamie Smith, 35, who drank poison.

RAIDS NET SEVEN

URBANA, April 30.—Five of seven men arrested last week for liquor law violations had been fined a total of $1,000 today. Two others seized are scheduled for hearings today.

BRITAIN JOINS

fighting planes staged a "bullet-less battle" with a German observation plane last Saturday over the important aviation center of Sesto Calendi, north of Milan.

The German plane was finally forced down and the pilot, who had two high-powered cameras arrested. While dressed in civilian clothes, Italian authorities expressed belief he is a German officer.

The German plane had been observed over Sesto Calendi for several days and when it appeared on Saturday, six machines immediately went up under orders to bring it down.

Plane Confiscated
After exciting maneuvers, the Italians succeeded in bringing in the German and he was forced to land. The plane was confiscated. Sesto Calendi is Italy's main frontier defense station in the north. It was inspected by Premier Mussolini en route to the Strasbourg conference.

STANDARD DEALERS PLAN CONFERENCE

More than a thousand dealers of The Standard Oil Company of Ohio, from in and near Columbus are going to Columbus Wednesday to attend the company's annual spring dealer sales conference.

Among those expected, according to P. D. Deaton, division manager with headquarters in Columbus, are:

George H. Adkins, E. O. Adkins, Edward C. Bushlee, Noah Butterbaugh, George L. Crites, Stanley Crenan, J. O. Dawson, G. W. Dennis, George Dehus, J. & B. Downs, Harry Goeller, Kenneth Greeno.

Ross Hamilton, Russell E. Hoffman, Russell Jones, H. C. McPherson, G. W. Miller, Edward Murphy, C. E. Murray & Son, W. G. Richards, Harry E. Rector, Mrs. T. E. Rodgers, A. M. Shaffer, N. F. Stout.

James Thomas, Ulf Hardware Store, J. A. Ward, A. J. Warner, Glenn Whitten, Roy Williams, Nelson Winfough, and Harley P. Young.

The first meeting of the day will be held at the Hartman Theater, with Mr. Deaton presiding. A. A. Stambaugh, vice president in charge of sales, will open the meeting with a talk on the present trend of service station business. He will be followed by Neil Curry, who will tell the story of the new type gasoline which the company recently developed and will place on the market this spring.

Leslie G. Smith, Sohio advertising manager, will then explain the company's spring advertising campaign. As in previous years, by far the largest portion of the company's appropriation will be used in newspapers.

The afternoon session will close with a dramatic presentation by John Scott of the company's new dealer helps that assist in merchandising their complete line of products.

JURY SELECTED IN WRECK CASE

COLUMBUS, April 30.—Seven men and five women comprise the jury in the first degree murder case of Hubert Linzey, charged with wrecking a train causing death of three men near Linden in December.

WOMAN IS HELD

COLUMBUS, April 30.—Mrs. Mama Musselman, 42, was arrested Monday on charges of manslaughter in the death of 12-year-old Neal Baxter, who died last Friday. The charge was filed by the boy's parents after police reported brakes on the Musselman car were faulty.

The rod and reproof given wisdom; but a child led for himself bringeth his mother to shame. Proverbs 29:15.

HARRIMAN IS OPTIMISTIC

FOUR POINTS ARE ADVISED

National Chamber of Commerce Hears Address On Economic Set-up.

WASHINGTON April 30 — A speech bubbling over with optimism and prophecy that the economic crisis is passing was delivered by President Henry I. Harriman today in opening the general session of the United States Chamber of Commerce's annual meeting.

Harriman said at the outset that "no longer is the request of the president the law of the land," but he refrained from making the administration over the coals too sharply.

He criticized some of the present and proposed recovery measures but praised others, particularly the housing program, and urged the government to review all of the AAA's processing taxes, mainly that on cotton, "and considered whether a general manufacturers' sales tax would not be a fairer way of raising the money."

Revival of Industry

Harriman insisted that measures of business and economic reform await the return of "a real revival of industry." He did not believe in reform first and recovery later.

Under the heading of "essential to recovery," he said: "Forty-two million people are at work, while eight million are out of work, and the problem that faces the country is such a restoration of business confidence that the index number of business activity may rise to par, and the unemployed be set to work. This, in my judgment, can be speedily accomplished by:

"FIRST — An assurance that congress will adjourn soon and that thereafter major reform measures will await a real revival of industry."

"SECOND — An international stabilization of currencies at the earliest possible date, so that foreign trade may move with less hazard."

"THIRD — A strong assurance that further devaluation of the dollar will not be used as a measure to restore prices, and,

"FOURTH — Assurance of a definite and drastic reduction of government expenditures after the present emergency appropriations have been spent."

Monarch to Return?

King George II

Following a meeting of Greek royalists in Paris, it was rumored that the political party had drafted an invitation to former King George II of Greece to return to his throne. Interviewed, the former monarch denied that he knew anything concerning the meeting and that he had not been approached on the subject of returning to Greece. The Greek government also denied the rumor.

eight trade may move with less hazard:

her hands and put it under an independent agency.

Senate backers of the Wagner Bill now plan to give the Social Security administration back to the lady. They hope this will appease her for their insistence upon taking the Labor Board away.

Leader

The Louisiana Kingfish was explaining to colleagues on the Democratic side of the Senate what an important party figure he is. "I do not want three Democrats to become engaged in an argument, because I do not want the harmony of the party disrupted. I am a leader of the Democratic party—one of its titular leaders."

"Did the Senator say 'kickular leader'?" inquired Texas's "Long Tom" Connolly.

Farley Enters Louisiana

Jim Farley caused the arrest of 67 persons in Louisiana.

This is not a phase of the Farley-Huey Long row, but part of the Post Office campaign against mail fraud.

Investigators are trying to break up a ring which makes a racket of ordering furniture on the easy payment plan—then resells it. Part of the operation involves use of the mails, thus putting postal authorities in a legal position to prosecute.

DRINKS POISON

COLUMBUS, April 30—Death caused by a recent pox in the family and by financial difficulties was blamed today for the suicide of Mrs. Mamie Smith, 35, who drank poison.

RAIDS NET SEVEN

URBANA, April 30—Five of seven men arrested last week for liquor law violations had been fined a total of $1,000 today. Two others seized are scheduled for hearings today.

BRITAIN JOINS

fighting planes staged a "bulletless battle" with a German observation plane last Saturday over the important aviation center of Sesto Calendi, north of Milan.

The German plane was finally forced down and the pilot, who had two high-powered aero cameras, arrested. While dressed in civilian clothes, Italian authorities expressed belief he is a German officer.

The German plane had been observed over Sesto Calendi for several days and when it appeared on Saturday, six machines immediately went up under orders to bring it down.

Plane Confiscated

After exciting maneuvers, the Italians succeeded in hemming in the German and he was forced to land. The plane was confiscated.

Sesto Calendi is Italy's main frontier defense station in the north. It was inspected by Premier Mussolini en route to the Stresa conference.

STANDARD DEALERS

PLAN CONFERENCE

More than a thousand dealers of The Standard Oil Company of Ohio, from in and near Columbus are going to Columbus Wednesday to attend the company's annual spring dealer sales conference.

Among those expected, according to P. D. Deaton, division manager, with headquarters in Columbus, are:

George H. Adkins, E. O. Adkins, Edward C. Bushee, Noah Butterbaugh, George L. Crites, Sterley Crozman, J. O. Dawson, G. W. Dennis, George Dehus, J. B. Downs, Harry Goeller, Kenneth Greeno.

Ross Hamilton, Russell E. Hoffman, Russell Jones, H. C. McPherson, G. W. Miller, Edward Murphy, C. E. Murray & Son, W. G. Richards, Harry E. Rector, Mrs. T. E. Rodgers, A. M. Shaffer, N. F. Stout.

James Thomas, Uffm Hardware Store, J. A. Ward, A. J. Warner, Glenn Whitten, Roy Williams, Nelson Wintfough, and Harley P. Young.

The first meeting of the day will be held at the Hartman Theater, with Mr. Deaton presiding.

A. A. Stambaugh, vice president in charge of sales, will open the meeting with a talk on the present trend of service station business. He will be followed by Neil Curry, who will tell the story of the new type gasoline which the company recently developed and will place on the market this spring.

Leslie G. Smith, Sohio advertising manager, will then explain the company's spring advertising campaign. As in previous years, by far the largest portion of the company's appropriation will be used in newspapers.

The afternoon session will close with a dramatic presentation by John Scott of the company's new dealer helps that assist in merchandising their complete line of products.

JURY SELECTED

IN WRECK CASE

COLUMBUS, April 30—Seven men and five women comprise the jury in the first degree murder case of Hubert Lindsey, charged with wrecking a train causing death of three men near Linden in December.

WOMAN IS HELD

COLUMBUS, April 30—Mrs. Mamie Musselman, 42, was arrested Monday on charges of manslaughter in the death of 12-year-old Neal Baxter, who died last Friday. The charge was filed by the boy's parents after police reported brakes on the Musselman car were faulty.

The rod and reproof given wisdom; but a child left for himself bringeth his mother to shame. — Proverbs 29:15.
